PREFACE

The preparation of a Catalogue of bronze inscription rubbings might appear to those who consult the resultant publication to involve little more than a few weeks of scissors-and-paste work. Nothing could be further from the truth, however, as Dr. Cheung and I have discovered during the three years we have worked on the 1,200 or so pages which follow. When the aim is to present the inscription rubbings, and hand-copies, along with such highly relevant information as the bibliographical background, the present whereabouts of the parent vessels, etc., and to index the whole corpus of data in a comprehensive and systematic manner, the magnitude of the task soon makes itself felt. Earlier Catalogues of the more conventional form of presentation may well have been compiled in shorter time—leaving aside, of course, the time involved in collecting the original rubbings. But even so, one soon finds ample grounds to sympathize with the earlier compilers and to appreciate the various unforeseen problems that, no doubt, confronted them no less than they have us.

As a compilation of this kind gradually approaches completion, it is then that trouble starts. Discovery of so simple a mishap as the duplication of identical inscriptions located pages apart does not unfortunately mean a mere replacement of one of the duplicates. A substitute rubbing has, of course, to be entered –but to select a suitable inscription, and preferably an original rubbing from my files, has not always been feasible. In such cases we have had little choice but to employ published materials. Although the dozen or so replacements (mainly short inscriptions) function basically as spacefillers, we have tried to select items which will offer something of interest to discuss in the Commentary Volumes. Changes in pagination resulting usually in the addition of pairs of pages (e.g. 32a, 32b; 83a, 83b; etc.) will be observed, as also the presence of a's, b's, and c's in the inscription numbers (銘文: 2a、銘文: 2b, etc) – these reflect changes of plan, substitutions, additions, etc. effected at too late a stage to warrant a complete re-adjustment of page numbers throughout the master-pages of the book (and, of course, the impact this would have on the Indexes requires little comment). Our philosophy has been: If Kuo Mo-jo can do it, so can we!

Archaic-style characters are a perpetual headache in our field when it comes to printing. Sometimes they can be built up from selected elements in other characters, but usually the service of a calligrapher has to be sought and this can add considerably to the overall cost of type-setting. Accordingly, we have sometimes employed available type such as 旅 for either 旅, or the combined graph 旅 + 車 rather than to prepare the latter graph especially; often, too, amongst the shorter inscriptions the archaic graph itself is given (e.g. [illegible], [illegible], [illegible], [illegible], etc.) in preference to a "direct transcription" in modern form so as to minimize type-setting costs—where sound values are presented in the romanised name (cf. Introduction, p.10) the specialist will recognize the elements chosen for the purpose; in the Commentary Volumes the matter will be appropriately elaborated.

Various other such problems might be detailed here mainly to warn the less experienced reader consulting this book that our field of study in not without its pitfalls. However, the aforegoing examples should suffice until the Commentary Volumes are published. Let us now view the present survey in its more general setting as part of the major project: Archaeological Documents of Ancient China.

For some years a continuing programme of systematic classification, research, and the gradual publication of the large corpus of Shang and Chou inscriptions assembled by me in bronze, ceramics, and other artifacts amounting to more than 15,000 items (Shang oracle bones not included), has been in progress. Special type has been constructed for the "direct" transcription of archaic characters, important collections of original rubbings in the USA, Japan, and Taiwan have been examined, copies of rare published studies on individual inscriptions and characters have been collected, many thousands of rubbings photographed in readiness for printed reproduction, and with the valuable resources available in Canberra (in particular the holdings of the Commonwealth National Library which include the Britton and Yetts Collections), considerable progress has been achieved towards the main project of preparing for publication a complete corpus of inscriptions appropriately annotated. This survey when published, will appear under the title: Archaeological Documents of Ancient China.

The same title is thus applied to the general research programme and to its resultant publications. It is one of several major projects initiated in the Department of Far Eastern History, ANU. First to appear amongst the projected publications issuing from this research project are the two volumes of studies on the Ch'u Silk Manuscript in Monographs on Far Eastern History (Nos. 4 and 5) (and two further volumes currently in preparation).

The present 10 volume work accordingly forms the second major survey associated with the Archaeological Documents of Ancient China project; it will be followed by a hsü-pien, and the Commentary Volumes. It is, in effect, a pilot survey designed to acquaint us with the various technical problems attending the printing and publishing of work in this field in preparation for the main opus Archaeological Documents of Ancient China. Yet at the same time it is planned to function as an entity in itself.

A third survey which is of appreciable scope and now in an advanced stage of preparation for printing is our joint-authored: Wu-shih-nien-lai hsin ch'u-t'u ch'ing-t'ung-ch'i ming-wen hui-chi 五十年來新出土青銅器銘文彙輯, "Inscribed Bronzes from Excavations Conducted over the Last Fifty Years" in which is brought together for the first time, every provenanced inscription published in the various archaeological journals. Each inscription is accompanied by bi-lingual texts incorporating site data, a modern character transcription, brief notes on selected characters and phrases, an English translation of the inscription, technical observations where feasible, etc.

Dr Cheung Kwong-yue's monumental Wei Chi k'o-yi Shang-Chou yi-ch'i tsung-mu 僞及可疑商周彝器總目 "A Comprehensive List of Spurious and Doubtful Inscriptions Amongst Shang and Chou Bronze Ritual Vessels", which is now almost ready for publication will form a particularly important contribution to the Archaeological Documents of Ancient China project. Between the covers of this comprehensive survey, are more than 1,600 entries. Practically every inscribed bronze that has been assessed as doubtful, or spurious, in publication and upon good authority, is recorded and often with relevant background details of considerable significance.

In this manner we are aiming to encourage studies in the field of Chinese history prior to Han to proceed more towards the archaeological documents in their role as the most dependable source of textual information. Compilation of the inscriptions in the form of rubbings or hand-copies alone is insufficient. There has to be extensive annotation, good indexing, and above all a helpful and imaginative approach to the Commentary.

In the Introduction (English) attention has been drawn to the timely appearance of Ch'en Meng-chia's Yin-Chou ch'ing-t'ung-ch'i fen-lei t'u-lu and for general convenience a cross reference index has been prepared for inclusion in our Index Volume. However, Chou Fa-kao's (周法高, Editor) San-tai chi-chin wen-ts'un che-lu-piao 三代吉金文存著錄表 (compiled by Chang Jih-sheng and Huang Ch'iu-yüeh 張日昇・黃秋月, Taipei, 1977) came to our notice too late to avail ourselves of its many good features. In the Commentary Volumes, however, corrections of some mishaps such as that resulting from the compilers' unawareness that there are two 亢父辛鼎 in the Hakutsuru Collection, will be noted. The rubbing reproduced in San-tai is clearly not from the same vessel as that reproduced throughout the sources listed under their entry 602 (p. 106). Several other such misidentifications caught my attention during the course of a few spot-checks. In some cases our Bibliographical Lists, too, may be found require some additional entries upon comparison with the above survey.

We are indebted to many people for valuable assistance in the preparation of the master-pages of this book. Miss Ma Hsüeh-fang 馬雪芳 has contributed a tremendous amount of expertise over the period August, 1977 to June, 1978; prior to that both Mrs. Lora Cheung 萬瑞雲 and Mr. Lin En-yue 林恩育 had provided many hours' assistance in pasting up type in Volumes 1-6. The Chinese type has been set by Wan-jung mi-shu chiao-hsiang p'ai-tzu yu-hsien kung-ssu 萬榮美術照相排字有限公司, and the English type for the Introductory Volume was prepared by Meadea Enterprise Co., Ltd. 梅廸企業有限公司 and set up in page form under my supervision by Miss Ma. Modern character "direct transcriptions" are partly by Tsukiji (築地) Design Co., Ltd., Tokyo, and partly by Pai-nan kung-shang mi-shu yin-shua she-chi 百能工商美術印刷設計. Photographic work by Photographic Services, ANU, is considerable spread as it has been over the last six or seven years– the staff have been most patient and their work most commendable. Typing staff of the Department of Far Eastern History have been very helpful, indeed, with mss preparation and the typing of the last section of the Indexes which has been reproduced directly from the type script. To all concerned Dr. Cheung and I wish to express here our gratitude.

We wish to record also our considerable debt to Mr. Yen Yi-p'ing and to the staff of Yee Wen Yin Shu Kuan for their meticulous care in the printing of our survey, and last but not least to express our deep appreciation of the very valuable advice and encouragement received from Professors Ch'ü Wan-li and Chin Hsiang-heng. However, any imperfections attending the content of the survey must be regarded as the responsibility of Dr. Cheung and myself. We are both deeply honoured to have the title pages for the three main sections of the book written by our good friends Professors K'ung Te-ch'eng, Jao Tsung-yi, and Chin Hsiang-heng, and the spine titles (封面題字) by Professor T'ai Ching-nung.

輯，自信已得其十之八九；又今春赴歐、美研究，旣手拓公私所藏一千三百餘器，復奔波於各大圖書館中，查得罕見金文原拓兩百餘份，俱影印存之。放目寰宇，澳洲國立大學遠東歷史系所藏金文資料之豐富，中國而外，實難有能出其右者矣！

與"總滙"有關之金文研究計劃猶有"近五十年來新出土青銅器銘文彙輯"，該輯盡錄新出土金文於一爐，依器形分類，每篇銘文之下，皆附中英文簡釋。合"彙編"、"彙輯"二書所錄，傳世金文材料，已過其泰半。

又余年前所輯"僞及可疑商周彝器總目"，初稿分僞及可疑兩部，所收一千六百餘目，預計南歸後，可再增益百餘目。每目之下，俱條列著錄、收藏，並列述僞及可疑之緣由。是書將係百年來唯一集僞及可疑器於大成之作。靡"總滙"計劃之推展，固勢難順利完成者也。

巴納對楚帛書之整理及研究同係與"總滙"有連帶關係之項目，屬於遠東歷史系數項重要研究計劃之一。其中楚帛書研究兩册業已出版，另考釋兩册正計劃出版中。

要之，"總滙"之編輯，期對金石學之研究能提供最原始，最完備之素材，博雅君子，幸祈不鄙提供資料俾該計劃臻於至善，是所企盼。

陳夢家"殷周青銅器分類圖錄"及周法高、張日昇、黃秋月合編之"三代吉金文存著錄表"二書，皆在"彙編"成編後始行出版，故本編著錄目未能及時引用及采錄，今僅將前者列入索引總目，備作參考。

本編之能順利付梓，除巴納博士盡出所藏，又於全書之董理，殫盡心力有以致之外，馬雪芳小姐、林恩育君及內子瑞雲，一再爲本書之剪貼而分勞；銘文拓本之攝製，端賴澳洲國立大學攝影處同人之衷誠合作；索引總目後半部能及時完成，則係遠東歷史系秘書組同人不辭辛勞之結果。嚴一萍先生赴美後，一再關注本書之出版；屈萬里教授對本書資料之收集，鼎助良多，並時加鼓勵；臺靜農、孔德成、饒宗頤及金祥恆四位教授，又不鄙爲本書封面及主要卷册分賜題籤。余承巴納博士之命，幸與斯役，今本編出版有日，謹向上述諸位先生、女士敬致謝忱。

卷首語

金文拓本之著錄，看似僅爲材料之剪裁，然欲求其完善，則非短期間內所能竟其功者。數載以還，余與巴納博士，即爲整理是項巨帙拓本，費盡心思。惟旣欲考查原器收藏所在，根尋過去著錄之歷史，更需正確判別同范異拓，抑異范異拓之著錄，實誠非易事，雖反復檢核，校對再三，亦不敢自信全然無誤者也。至於與編排技術有關之困擾，更是紛至沓來，終其成書，未饜人意者，舉凡數端：

①頁數重複。由於新增材料之添入，頁數之次序，備受影響，甚而導致某頁出現空白，雖可自其他著錄採用器類、字數相同之拓本以作塡充，然增補之間，編中遂出現同頁號碼加添 a,b 頁數，如頁 32a ， 32b ；頁 83a 、 83b 等是。

②隸定問題。由於部份難字，迄無標準之隸釋，故本書器名，未能全部統一以隸體標出。如[illegible]，[illegible]，[illegible]，等字，惟一仍原文摹錄。

③音讀處理。英文器名因係使用羅馬拼音系統，如遇難字，有音讀困難者，則多據偏旁發音爲準（參英文序第十頁），至於是否盡合原讀，固仍有待探究者也。

④同形異字。爲減省添制新字之麻煩，對音義類同之異體字，間或採用最常見之形式，如旅，䢊二字，今皆書作「旅」。

類此疏陋，幸祈讀者諒焉！

本編之輯錄，係巴納博士所主持"古代中國考古資料總滙"研究計劃中之一部分。屬於澳洲國立大學遠東歷史系數項重要研究計劃之一。繼"彙編"十册之後，將有"續編"及"考釋"之作。二十年間。經巴納蒐集之銅器銘文拓本及其他文物資料，經分類及照相處理者，已遠超一萬五千餘目（甲骨文資料並未包括在內）。其中金文部份，堪稱最爲完善。除包括數以千計經巴納手拓及收藏之原拓外，現藏坎培拉澳洲國立圖書館東方部之畢頓及葉慈兩教授生前所集金文著錄亦已盡入"總滙"檔案。部分材料並經由巴納以首創之直譯隸釋系統予以處理。再者，比歲以來，光裕從事新舊諸家金文著錄及單篇論文之收

INTRODUCTION

Since the publication of the two major Catalogues of bronze inscription rubbings Hsiao-chiao-ching-ko chin-wen t'o-pen 小校經閣金文拓本 (1935) and San-tai chi-chin-wen ts'un 三代吉金文存 (1936) – the former, an 18 volume work comprising 6,456 inscriptions of which 3,311 are of pre-Ch'in type (weapons provide an additional 314 inscriptions), and the latter a 20 volume work, beautifully printed in gravure, with a total of 4,831 pre-Ch'in inscriptions (331 of these comprise weapons) – numbers of Catalogues of considerably lesser scope have appeared. Although there are very useful and quite important materials reproduced in these later Catalogues, and the quality of printed reproduction of the inscription rubbings (and of photographs of the parent vessels which appear in many of them) is of a pleasingly high standard, they are, in terms of sheer quantity of source materials – in particular, the numbers of rubbings of inscriptions they contain – compilations of somewhat limited scope. Since the appearance of Hsiao-chiao and San-tai, just over 40 years ago, only one such compilation containing more than 500 inscription rubbings has been published. Practically all of these "lesser" Catalogues have not only been long out-of-print but also they are usually priced well beyond the means of scholars and students when they do occasionally appear for sale. Reprintings of both Hsiao-chiao and San-tai have appeared in recent years and are still available and some of the "lesser" Catalogues have been reprinted but usually the quality of reproduction is poor.[1]

In Japan relevant publications which have appeared over much the same period comprise such extremely expensive compilations as Umehara Sueji's 梅原末治 Ō-Bei shūcho Shina kodō seika 歐米蒐儲支那古銅精華 (1933-1935) and Nihon shūcho Shina kodō seika 日本蒐儲支那古銅精華 (1959-1964), Mizuno Seiichi's 水野清一 In-Shū seidōki to tama 殷周青銅器と玉 (1959), etc., while items within the means of mere scholars such as the various publications of Shirakawa Shizuka 白川静 (in particular, Kimbunshū 金文集 – Nigensha 二玄社 1963-1964, and Kimbun tsūshaku 金文通釋 – 1962-1975), individual volumes of the several versions of Shodō zenshū 書道全集 (Heibonsha 平凡社 and Kawade 河出 – Volume 1 in each case, and a Supplement Volume, 26, in the Heibonsha series), etc, may be noted.

Amongst these, and scattered throughout the rather large corpus of articles in scholarly journals and several semi-popular daikei 大系 series in archaeology, Museum handbooks, Exhibition handbooks, Catalogues of Collections (these for the most part now unobtainable and terribly expensive when any come upon the market), and other such publications, are many reproductions of inscriptions and records of background information – the latter, however, is usually far too succinct and, not uncommonly, somewhat out of date.[2] Outside a limited number of Libraries in Japan and in the U.S.A.,

1. San-tai has been reprinted in Hong Kong (Lungmen Bookstore 龍門書店影印本 , 1968) and in Taipei (by Ming Lun Publishing Coy., 明倫出版社 , 1970). Both printings are quite good – the former is the better in my opinion. Yee Wen has published Hsiao-chiao. A reduced size printing of San-tai by Wen Hua Publishing Coy. 文華出版社 is very useful and copies are still available in Taipei. Recent printings of Shih-erh-chia chi-chin t'u-lu 十二家吉金圖錄 (Chung Hsin Shu Chü 中新書局 , Taipei); Yin-wen-ts'un 殷文存 and Meng-wei-ts'ao t'ang chi-chin t'u 夢郼艸堂吉金圖 (in the Collected Works of Lo Chen-yü 羅雪堂先生全集一至五編 , Wen Hua Publishing Coy.); Shanghai Catalogue (Supplementary Volume, under title of Ku-tai ch'ing-t'ung-ch'i hui-pien 古代青銅器彙編 , Ho Lo T'u Shu Publishing Coy 河洛圖書出版社 ,Taipei) ; etc. are of varying and usually indifferent quality of reproduction.

2. It is not an easy matter to keep track of the various changes of hands in the ownership of individual bronzes. In making the above observation no criticism is intended – as noted later it is often a matter of chance only that one learns of ownership changes. However, I well recall the expression of disappointment in the case of a collector friend who had furnished excellent photographs, rubbings, and other data relating to some tens of vessels which he had purchased in Tokyo to the compilers of one of the above-mentioned Catalogues. Several of his vessels appear in the Catalogue (but not his photographs) and they are attributed to owners sometimes several changes of hands scholars in our field are often hard-put to find available any appreciable proportion of such publications in any one Library or Research Institute. As in the case of the Chinese publications, reproductions of inscriptions are scattered and often difficult to track down, and seldom do hitherto unpublished inscriptions, or those of especial interest and rarity, appear – nearly all the materials they contain are to be found in San-tai or Hsiao-chiao.

Western Catalogues have come upon the scene in considerable numbers: W.C. White: Bronze Culture of Ancient China (1956), C.F. Kelly and Ch'en Meng-chia: Chinese Bronzes from the Buckingham Collection (1946), W. van Heusden: Ancient Chinese Bronzes of the Shang and Chou Dynasties (1952), Bernhard Karlgren A Catalogue of Bronzes in the Alfred F. Pillsbury Collection (1952), J.E. Kidder, Jr.: Early Chinese Bronzes in the City Art Museum of St. Louis (1956), and various others. In many of these publications inscriptions are dealt with rather cursorily and accordingly the quality of inscription reproduction leaves a great deal to be desired – clarity is poor and often the original inscription rubbings are not only of indifferent quality but they are also considerably reduced in size and usually without any indication of the reduction scale. Vessel photographs, however, are often of fine quality – in Western Catalogues and in most other publications relevant to the bronzes of ancient China, art-historical emphases are very much the rule. Unfortunately, the publications have not always been acquired by Libraries, and editions published are usually in limited quantities, thus prices are often rather high.

Some such attention to the more recent bibliographical background in the field of chin-shih-hsueh 金石學 is required before one might prepare a case for publishing yet one more Catalogue of ancient Chinese bronze inscriptions. With even further investigation into the background of Catalogue compilation and publication it would soon be discovered that there is need to review the whole corpus of inscription data and to plan upon its organization into a single definitive and truly comprehensive assembly which would include all the scattered inscriptions amongst the "lesser" Catalogues, and the two major Catalogues already mentioned, as well as the considerable corpus of inscriptions still extant throughout earlier Catalogues of the Ch'ing period and others dating as far back as Northern Sung times. Merely as a matter of convenience in research, such a comprehensive compilation would be welcomed by research institutes, libraries, scholars, and students.[3]

The present compilation is a major step in this direction. It comprises the largest assembly of inscription rubbings and hand-copies compiled and published since 1936, and the method of presentation is one that may legitimately be claimed to be far in advance of those in earlier Catalogues of comparable scope – it is not mere scissors-and-paste work with frustratingly inadequate data jotted down alongside each rubbing (which location, in any case, is seldom utilized), or assembled at the conclusion of the book (which is the more usual procedure). On the contrary, a great deal of effort has gone into the preparation of the "Illustration Volumes" alone, so that these volumes of primary documents will immediately function as a useful avenue of research and consultation pending the completion and publication of our projected (and already well advanced) "commentaries on the inscriptions" – a two volume work to follow shortly after the present set of Illustration Volumes. In several respects the present Catalogue is planned also as a pilot venture for the major work Archaeological Documents of Ancient China and, accordingly, especial care is being taken to obviate the before! There is a problem in this and in other somewhat similar situations. In the case just cited, the present owner should certainly have had the vessels in question ascribed to his Collection. However, there are many instances where it is just not possible to provide the most up-to-date records of ownership.

3. In a very early paper I outlined the aims for one such venture and several approaches were discussed ("New Approaches and Research Methods in Chin-Shih-Hsüeh", Memoirs of the Tōyōbunka Kenkyūjo, Tokyo University, Vol. XIX, 1959). During the ensuing years a considerable amount of time and effort has been spent in augmenting my files of inscriptions, organizing the materials, preparing special type for transcription purposes, bringing together all available studies on the inscriptions as well as those dealing with individual phrases and characters, and other such relevant activities. The general programme of research and publication has been given the title "Archaeological Documents of Ancient China" and it is expected that a major work bearing this same title will eventually be published under the co-authorship of Professor Matsumaru Michio 松丸道雄 , Dr. Cheung Kwong-yue, and myself.

possibility of excessive duplication of material amongst the two compilations.

A total of 1,820 inscriptions in the form of original rubbings, hand-copies, and photographs of original rubbings selected from my research files, comprises the corpus of archaeological documents presented in this Catalogue. Of these documents, 1,350 comprise rubbings made by my own hand directly from the original artifacts which have accumulated over a period of some twenty years of travel and research in Japan, Taiwan, Canada, U.S.A., Europe, Australia, and New Zealand. In addition there are 500 or so original rubbings which I have purchased (for the most part in Japan between 1953 and 1960) – these in the form of ch'üan-hsing t'o-pen 全形拓本 scrolls, or as rubbings mounted in book form, or as often the case, simply as piles of mounted, or unmounted, sheets of rubbings. Nearly all such materials have been included although they may not always meet the aims of this survey (i.e. we are unable to report the present or recent whereabouts of the parent vessels, or the existence or the availability of illustrations of the parent vessels is still uncertain).[4] Numbers of rubbings have have been given to me as gifts, or in exchange for comparable materials, and in the majority of such cases the location of the artifacts containing the inscriptions has been recorded in my files. However, during the early stages of collecting I had no definite plan to publish the gradually accumulating assembly of original rubbings in the form of a Catalogue such as the present. In fact, the aim was simply to build up an archives of this document-type for my general research in the field, and it was expected that publication of individual items, or of selected groups, would be made from time to time as required. Thus during the early years of my research, with the accent on the rubbing rather than on the vessel, a number of rubbings entered the collection without due record of crucial data relating to the parent vessels (or other inscribed artifacts). Happily, my interest in the technical side of the study began to take root after the first few years of study. The result has been an emphasis upon the artifact while the preparation of rubbings of the inscriptions (where the artifact is inscribed) became a more routine undertaking. Consequently, the great majority of inscription rubbings in my files derive from vessels and other artifacts of Han and pre-Han date whose whereabouts at the time the rubbings were made, accession numbers, measurements, and other such details are fully recorded.

Amongst the materials in the present Catalogue are a number of hand-copies of inscriptions, and some reproductions of rubbings enlarged from 35 mm negatives. Materials of this type derive largely from my researches in the Jimbun Kagaku Kenkyūjo 人文科學研究所 conducted over the last 20 years during field-trips in Japan and also from my more recent studies in the National Central Library 國立中央圖書館 and Academia Sinica 中央研究院（南港）, Taipei. For various reasons it is not possible at this stage to provide rubbings in place of some of the hand-copies and in the case of the enlargements made from 35 mm negatives some slight degree of inaccuracy in scale may be present. Due care must therefore be exercised in making relevant interpretations from these reproductions.

The most recent major Catalogue of ancient Chinese bronze inscriptions was published 20 years ago: Yü Hsing-wu's 于省吾 Shang-Chou chin-wen lu-yi 商周金文錄遺 (abb. Lu-yi), Peking, 1957. In it he brought together rubbings of 616 artifacts from the collections of rubbings of Kuo Mo-jo 郭沫若 , Jung Keng 容庚 , Shang Ch'eng-tso 商承祚 , T'ang Lan 唐蘭 , Ch'en Meng-chia 陳夢家 , etc. A Table of Contents occupying 44 pages simply lists the names of the inscribed artifacts and the numbers of characters in each inscription. Little other information appears. In a review of this book (see Monumenta Serica Vol. XIX, 1960, pp. 515-517) wherein I identified many of the inscriptions,

4. Many of my purchases were made at the well known Yamamoto Shoten 山本書店 , in Jimbocho 神保町 , Tokyo and most of these seem to have derived from a single collection which I have not attempted to identify – the family wished to remain anonymous so Mr. Yamamoto informed me (and this I respect). Others were purchased from Bunkyūdō 文求堂 – well known as the original publisher of Kuo Mo-jo's 郭沫若 major works in our field (some of which have been recently reprinted both in Mainland China and in Taiwan) – Bungadō 文雅堂 , and the bookstore Shosekibunbutsu Ryūtsūkai 書籍文物流通會 in the Yushima Seidō 湯島聖堂. Occasional purchases were made in Kyoto, and also in Hong Kong. Unfortunately, however, provenance data is generally lacking, even in numbers of the rubbings with colophons. Any information relating to ownership that may be assessed from the presence of seals, or from the signatures of those who have written transcriptions, colophons, notes, etc. on individual rubbings will be discussed in the Commentary Volumes.

the following remarks were offered:

> Although many of the inscriptions reproduced in this Catalogue appear for the first time and the collection is certainly welcome because of this feature alone, the omission on the part of the compiler to present the materials in the manner in which they deserve must be regarded as an unfavourable aspect in the mind of any reviewer and certainly a matter of inconvenience by students who consult it. We will, nevertheless, look forward to the publication of the remaining rubbings promised by the compiler and trust that he may incorporate in the succeeding volume a comprehensive list of provenance or bibliographical references to the whole collection of rubbings and append also transcriptions and commentary on the inscriptions. (p. 517)

No follow-up volume has yet appeared. Yü's compilation includes quite a few inscriptions from Western collections – particularly American. Possibly the second projected volume would have included further inscribed items from Western sources as well as those from newly excavated materials as in the case of the first volume. However, it may perhaps be considered doubtful that he would have been inclined to present the sort of information students in our field require in repertories of this kind because of the awkward fact that many of the inscribed bronzes are in Collections, both public and private, outside Mainland China. This would entail continual reference to the Collections listed later (p. 29) and, in accordance with frequently published accusations of his countrymen, all and sundry would probably have to be classified as "imperialist brigands", etc.[5]

However, having myself commented somewhat critically in the above review on the lack of background information attending Yü's Catalogue it would surely be facetious to compile a similar array of rubbings and likewise append only a modicum amount of background data.

In the present Catalogue I have, in association with my co-author, Cheung Kwong-yue, aimed to compile the rubbings more or less along traditional lines and, in this respect, the overall plan of presentation does not differ too markedly from that in other repertories. Inscriptions are grouped according to the number of characters in each and thence in a numerical order, i.e. all inscriptions comprising two characters are placed together, all with three characters, all with four characters, and so on. In each such group a further subdivision is made – this in accordance with the vessel-type, or other artifact, in which the inscription is incorporated.[6] Here, the order is not entirely traditional

5. It has always seemed to me a pity that political and ideological exigencies should affect the attitudes, approaches, and even the written utterances of scholars. While one might sympathise with present feelings in respect of past situations arising from the activities of a Lord Elgin, a Heinrich Schliemann, and many such others, one should not lose sight of the fact that China is not alone in having many of her cultural treasures now lodged in public and private Collections in numerous other countries. Accordingly, it can only be regarded as somewhat childish when Mainland Chinese writers describe present owners in general as thieves and robbers, thus conveniently forgetting the fact that it was no other than their own countrymen who despoiled countless tombs to obtain the self-same treasures! And again, it was their own countrymen who thrived in the antique business selling to collectors – comprising both their own countrymen, and foreigners – and interested mainly in swelling their bank accounts and often only superficially concerned as to the future disposition of their "national treasures". If criticism is to be applied, let it be applied in the right direction! Then let the critics consider the fact that foreign purchasing of these treasures has resulted in their preservation rather than their loss through sale by peasants – ignorant of their historical value – to scrap metal merchants (a danger facing the chance discovery of bronze vessels even in present day China, cf. Lee Yim 李棪 "Fei-t'ung-tui chung chin-nien fa-hsien Yin- Chou yi-ming chi-lu" 廢銅堆中近年發現殷周彝銘集錄 , Lien-ho shu-yüan hsüeh-pao 聯合書院學報 8 [1972] 40-62; also my remarks in Metallurgical Remains of Ancient China [xix] and earlier in The Ch'u Silk Manuscript – Translation and Commentary [Chapter 1]).

6. As amongst human beings, however, there is to be found throughout a large corpus of historical documents sufficient individual variations, unforeseeable complexities, and incompatibilities of all kinds, that make the most carefully established system of order and presentation inoperable at times. Rules sometimes have to be broken. Thus the mode of presentation described in the above paragraph has had to be modified slightly in the case of certain inscriptions mainly because of technical problems in putting the rubbings into book form. To off-set any inconveniences that may have occurred (and these are very few) the indexes in the last volume should be found helpful. Also, in order to utilize a number of blank pages, some additional illustrative or documentary materials have been incorporated. From my files some vessel photographs have been selected and incorporated, copies of rare notes and annotations on ch'üan hsing t'o-pen are presented, and reproductions of a number of chüan-hsing t'o-pen versions of the parent vessels. An occasional break in the monotony of inscription rubbings is, I think, to be welcomed. We are especially indebted to the National Central Library, Taipei, for generously allowing us to reproduce some of the valuable ch'üan-hsing t'o-pen from its Collection.

Amongst the original rubbings in my collection which have either been purchased, received as gifts, or are the result of exchange, there are, as already noted, quite a few deriving from bronze vessels whose whereabouts is known to us. Of particular interest is a volume I purchased from Yamamoto in 1954 containing 120 or so original rubbings and compiled sometime prior to 1900 – many of these bear the seal of Wu Ta-ch'eng 吳大澂 and several of the parent vessels are now in such Collections as Sumitomo 住友 (Senoku 泉屋), Fujii 藤井 (Yurinkan 有鄰館), Kurokawa 黑川 , Buckingham, Brundage, etc., while others are known to be in other Collections in Japan and Europe amongst which there are some inscribed vessels in Collections that I have not as yet studied at first hand. Such information in my files relating to Collections not yet personally examined comes from both published and unpublished sources – the former sources are obvious and need no elaboration at this stage, however, the major unpublished source of data comprises the "Kyoto Archives".

Since the mid 1920's a tremendous volume of documentation, photographs, and rubbings, covering many thousands of art objects and archaeological artifacts has been methodically compiled by the staff of the Chinese Archaeology Section of the Jimbun Kagaku Kenkyūjo of Kyoto University. A very large proportion of the materials in the "Kyoto Archives" assembled over this period of five decades, results from studies made directly on the artifacts surveyed. Rubbings, hand-copies, photographs, line-drawings, and notes prepared by such well known scholars as Umehara Sueji, the late Mizuno Seiichi, Hayashi Minao 林巳奈夫, Higuchi Takayasu 樋口隆康, Itō Michiharu 伊藤道治, etc. are incorporated in the files. As the original artifacts were, at the time of their examination, in specific locations and the details are often fully recorded, consultation of this invaluable source for such background information has been most helpful. Quite a few rubbings of inscriptions which have not hitherto been published are entered in the "Archives", and those which have been published and are known to most students in our field only as printed reproductions, can be examined and re-studied with profit.[8] On many occasions I have been privileged to conduct research through the Kyoto we would go over several of the items I had completed examining, photographing, making rubbings, and note-taking during the day. Features of especial interest relating to the casting technique, the inscription, the décor, etc. were discussed, and where I found instances of doubtful features – or where it was possible to show the piece to be definitely suspect or spurious – each detail was carefully re-appraised and Brundage made very searching queries and shrewd observations. He was certainly interested in the bronzes and had accumulated quite a lot of knowledge pertaining to them. It was not until some time later I learnt that he had returned some of the pieces – and, interestingly, the information came to me from a dealer whom I knew well and who on several occasions has allowed me access to bronzes on sale in his shop: "All the time you were in Chicago, Brundage rang me from time to time – 'do you know what Barnard has pointed out about the . . . . . which I bought from you . . . . years ago? . . . '! One other source of information is equally interesting: a collector friend who had long wanted to get an inscribed vessel with an appreciably long inscription, wrote to me and enclosed a pencil rubbing of an inscribed piece which had just been offered to him. The last time I had seen the inscribed item was only a few months earlier in Brundage's storeroom! Similarly, six or seven other pieces discarded from the Brundage Collection turned up a couple of years later in a certain private Collection in New York. Dr. Cheung noted a couple of years ago that one of the van Heusden bronzes had entered the National Museum Collection, Ueno, Tokyo, and knowledge of other pieces from the same Collection being dispersed and entering at least one other Collection has come my way.

The purpose of this anecdotal note is not sheer frivolity – what does one do in cases of this kind when allocating a particular bronze to a particular Collection? It is impossible to keep track of all such meanderings of ownership. So far as I can see no definite rule can be established – each case has to be dealt with in the way which seems best, e.g. the ex-Brundage pieces which have entered another Collection known to me, will take the name of that Collection, but those whose subsequent disposal is not known to me will still bear the B60.B – number. In the Commentary Volumes, however, some details of the background will be elaborated upon where space will allow this.

8. Careful persual of an original rubbing often results in the discovery of minor features which may serve to determine its reliability as an archaic document. Such characteristics as the somewhat uncontrolled spread of acid etching in cross strokes and at the ends of strokes, spacer metal transversed by character strokes, the precise locations and shapes of spacers in the inscription area in relation to character misalignments, etc. are important criteria in the determination of forgery. In the absence of the original inscribed vessels, original rubbings of good quality may often present almost the same level of information on several such features as will be found upon direct examination of the inscription area of the vessel itself. Photographs of the inscription areas are likewise extremely useful sources of information. Throughout the "Kyoto Archives" there are numbers of instances of both rubbings and photographs of the same inscription areas, which allow useful comparative study. In the Commentary Volumes detailed observations relating to such data will appear. In the present Volumes, it should be noted, reference is not made to every instance where our inscriptions are parallelled by data in the "Kyoto Archives" (abb. 京拓 in the Bibliobut it is reasonably close to that in other Catalogues. We have chosen to follow in a somewhat general manner the scheme outlined in Jung Keng and Chang Wei-ch'ih 張維持 Yin-Chou ch'ing-t'ung-ch'i t'ung-lun 殷周青銅器通論 pp. 25-27 which is based on an earlier version by Mizuno Seiichi 水野清一 (see Indai Seidōbunka no Kenkyū 殷代青銅文化之研究 , 1953). As inscribed weapons are comparatively few (and we have not included rubbings of coins, mirrors, etc.) they are accordingly placed in Miscellaneous Groups which terminate each numerical section. In some cases – especially amongst the rubbings I have purchased from time to time – no background data is available and even the vessel-type containing the inscription may not be known. Such rubbings are placed in the Miscellaneous Groups. They have been selected for reproduction here mainly because they are either unpublished elsewhere, or there are especial points of interest and of value to researchers in our field attending the inscription or the colophons alongside.

While on the subject of rubbings of inscriptions and photographs of inscription rubbings, some thought should be given to the matter of "rights of reproduction" in publication. It is a generally accepted convention that photographs of bronze vessels and other such objets d'art – as supplied by the owner – will not be reproduced in publication unless prior agreement has been obtained. In the case of rubbings, however these are very often made by persons other than the owner – and with his knowledge that they will appear in publication in due course. The practice we normally follow is to incorporate an appropriate entry recording details of ownership – that permission has been obtained to reproduce rubbings made by the writer himself is seldom if ever a matter requiring record. Rubbings are a form of note-taking and the only way they might be denied reproduction in publication would be to deny scholars access to the original inscribed artifact. In my score or so years working in this field I have seldom come across problems relating to the free use of rubbings, or photographs thereof, in research and publication. There are, of course, occasions where one or other of us may have a study of a particular inscription, or of a group of inscriptions, nearly ready for publication including hitherto unpublished inscription rubbings – we might expect colleagues to whom we give copies of the latter rubbings to wait until our study is published before they themselves publish reproductions of the same materials. These are simple courtesies which are generally observed. Institutes and libraries with collections of rubbings usually respond favourably to any reasonable requests to reproduce items from their holdings. I have made it a practice to ascertain the situation before embarking upon a programme of photographing, or hand-copying, of inscription rubbings in public collections – the almost invariable response has been: "go ahead and publish what you need for your project, but make sure to give appropriate credits." In the present compilation any rubbings requiring special permission for reproduction, have been allowed following due application.

As the compilation of rubbings progressed and the preparation of the bibliographical notes to be placed alongside each proceeded, it became increasingly evident that the present Catalogue was developing into a particularly useful form of repertory. In these volumes we have, in effect, produced a record of practically all the inscribed bronzes in each of several major and minor Collections – both public and private. These are listed later, and where an asterisk has been placed against the abbreviation used for each Collection in this list (p. 29), e.g. Brundage*: Avery Brundage Collection de Young Museum, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco; FGA*: Freer Gallery of Art, Washington 25, D.C.; Shodō*: Shodō Hakubutsukan 書道博物館 , Uguisudani, Tokyo; etc., this indicates that there is at least a comprehensive, if not complete, coverage of the inscribed bronzes of pre-Han date extant in these Collections circa 1960-1970 – the decade during which the greater bulk of my work on bronze vessels and other artifacts in these Collections was undertaken.[7]

7. Changes of ownership of art objects occurs rather frequently, as earlier remarked, and I have seen it in process in the case of Chinese bronzes during the period of my several research-trips to the USA. Some 12-15 items in the Brundage Collection, for instance, which I judged to be spurious in several cases, and of doubtful authenticity in others, and some to be simply archaistic pieces, were returned to the dealers from whom they were purchased. Nearly every day of the six weeks I spent working on his tremendous collection, the late Avery Brundage would call in to the two small storage rooms on the 22nd floor of 10 North La Salle Street, Chicago, in which the bronzes were arrayed and

Archives and during the course of several visits to Kyoto during the period 1957-1959 had, with the generous permission of the late Professor Mizuno Seiichi, photographed on 35 mm film for inclusion in Archaeological Documents of Ancient China many hundreds of the original rubbings preserved in the Archives and many hundreds of other original rubbings lodged in the Institute Library – most important amongst the latter being the Kōzaisō Sandai kikkin moji 弘齋藏三代吉金文字 a 32 volume compilation of 692 rubbings. Unfortunately, this collection of rubbings (assembled by an unknown party and earlier in the Collection of the late Professor Naitō Torajirō 內藤虎次郎) is only of limited value so far as background data to individual inscriptions is concerned.[9] Over the last five years Professor Hayashi Minao has kindly allowed me access to the Archives so as to continue the task of compiling background information on individual inscriptions during the course of several brief visits to Kyoto. As a result a collection of some 600 pages of notes and hand-copies covering some 800 inscriptions has been prepared.[10]

With the preceding notes to draw upon it has been possible to identify in terms of time and place an appreciably large number of inscribed bronzes in Japanese, European, and some smaller American Collections, which I have not as yet been able to study at first hand. Bringing this material together with that which I have personally compiled, results in a quite large corpus of inscribed artifacts amongst which nearly every item can be accompanied by an entry denoting its present, or very recent, whereabouts, and also a record of the availability of reproductions (either photographs, or ch'uan-hsing t'o-pen 全形拓本) of the parent vessels, or of such other artifacts in which the inscriptions are inscribed.

As the general character of this compilation of rubbings and hand-copies from my Collection and research files has so markedly developed into a survey of the inscription holdings of numerous major and minor Collections, I have added occasionally copies of inscriptions of which I do not as yet actually possess original rubbings. This has been done in order to present more comprehensive views of particular Collections. There is a limit to such manipulations, however. To proceed too far beyond that limit would result in the book growing into a much larger albeit correspondingly more valuable compendium than either our publisher, or we, would wish. Nevertheless, a major feature of the survey graphical Lists). Many of the Kyoto files contain rubbings, photographs and information already duplicated in our research files, or in published sources. Few of these have been recorded in my field-notes – only if the rubbings, vessel photographs, background data, etc. were found to exhibit some special details of interest, have I entered reference numbers to the Kyoto files.

9. The 32 volumes are kept in 8 han. In the first are Chung 鐘 : 30 items, P'an 盤 : 18, Yi 彝 : 25, and Tsun 尊 : 29; in the second are Ting 鼎 : 103; in the third are Kuei 設 : 84 items; in the fourth are Kuei: 42, Hu 壺 : 17, and Li 鬲 : 19; in the fifth are Yu 卣 : 50, and Chüeh 爵 : 47; in the sixth are Fu 簠 : 38, and a variety of other vessels totalling: 42 items. The seventh han has Chio 角 , Ku 觚 , Kuang 觥 , Chih 觶 , and a variety of other vessels, cross-bows, rulers, etc., totalling 99 items. The eighth han contains 67 inscriptions from weapons.

10. The reason behind my preparation of hand-copies of many of these inscriptions, and also of those in other collections of original rubbings is that direct study of an original rubbing allows a better interpretation of various minor features attending the character strokes such as those referred to in note 7 above than is possible from a photographic or printed reproduction. Now, to record such features efficiently so that they may be recalled on a future occasion and be recognized then in much the same manner as on the occasion of the actual study of the original rubbing, months, or years before, I find the hand-copy to be a fairly reliable means to achieve this result. In fact, during the process of drawing the hand-copy – it is drawn by eye – the various minutiae whose total effect is to lead to an assessment as to whether the inscription is, say, etched or incised, gradually become often strikingly apparent as the drawing progresses. The relevant features are exaggerated slightly, additional details are sketched alongside the hand-copy where something particularly suspicious is noted, and pertinent comments are recorded along with the hand-copy. Some examples are incorporated in Figure 1.

My hand-copies are not intended to be representations of the original inscriptions in terms of shapes and scale of the component characters. Structural aspects of characters are, however, rendered with extreme care, and shapes, sizes, alignment, etc. as carefully as one can within the limitations of availability of time, one's "artistic" prowess, etc. Subjective aspects of their renderings will not necessarily be assessible by others but the objective aspects: the character content, character structures, idiosyncracies attending character writing, etc. should be found generally understandable and reasonably reliable – human errors will no doubt, occur from time to time. Where possible, of course, rubbings are presented rather than the hand-copies, but greater use of the latter will be made in the Commentary Volumes. Note the comparisons of rubbings and hand-copies presented in Figure 2.

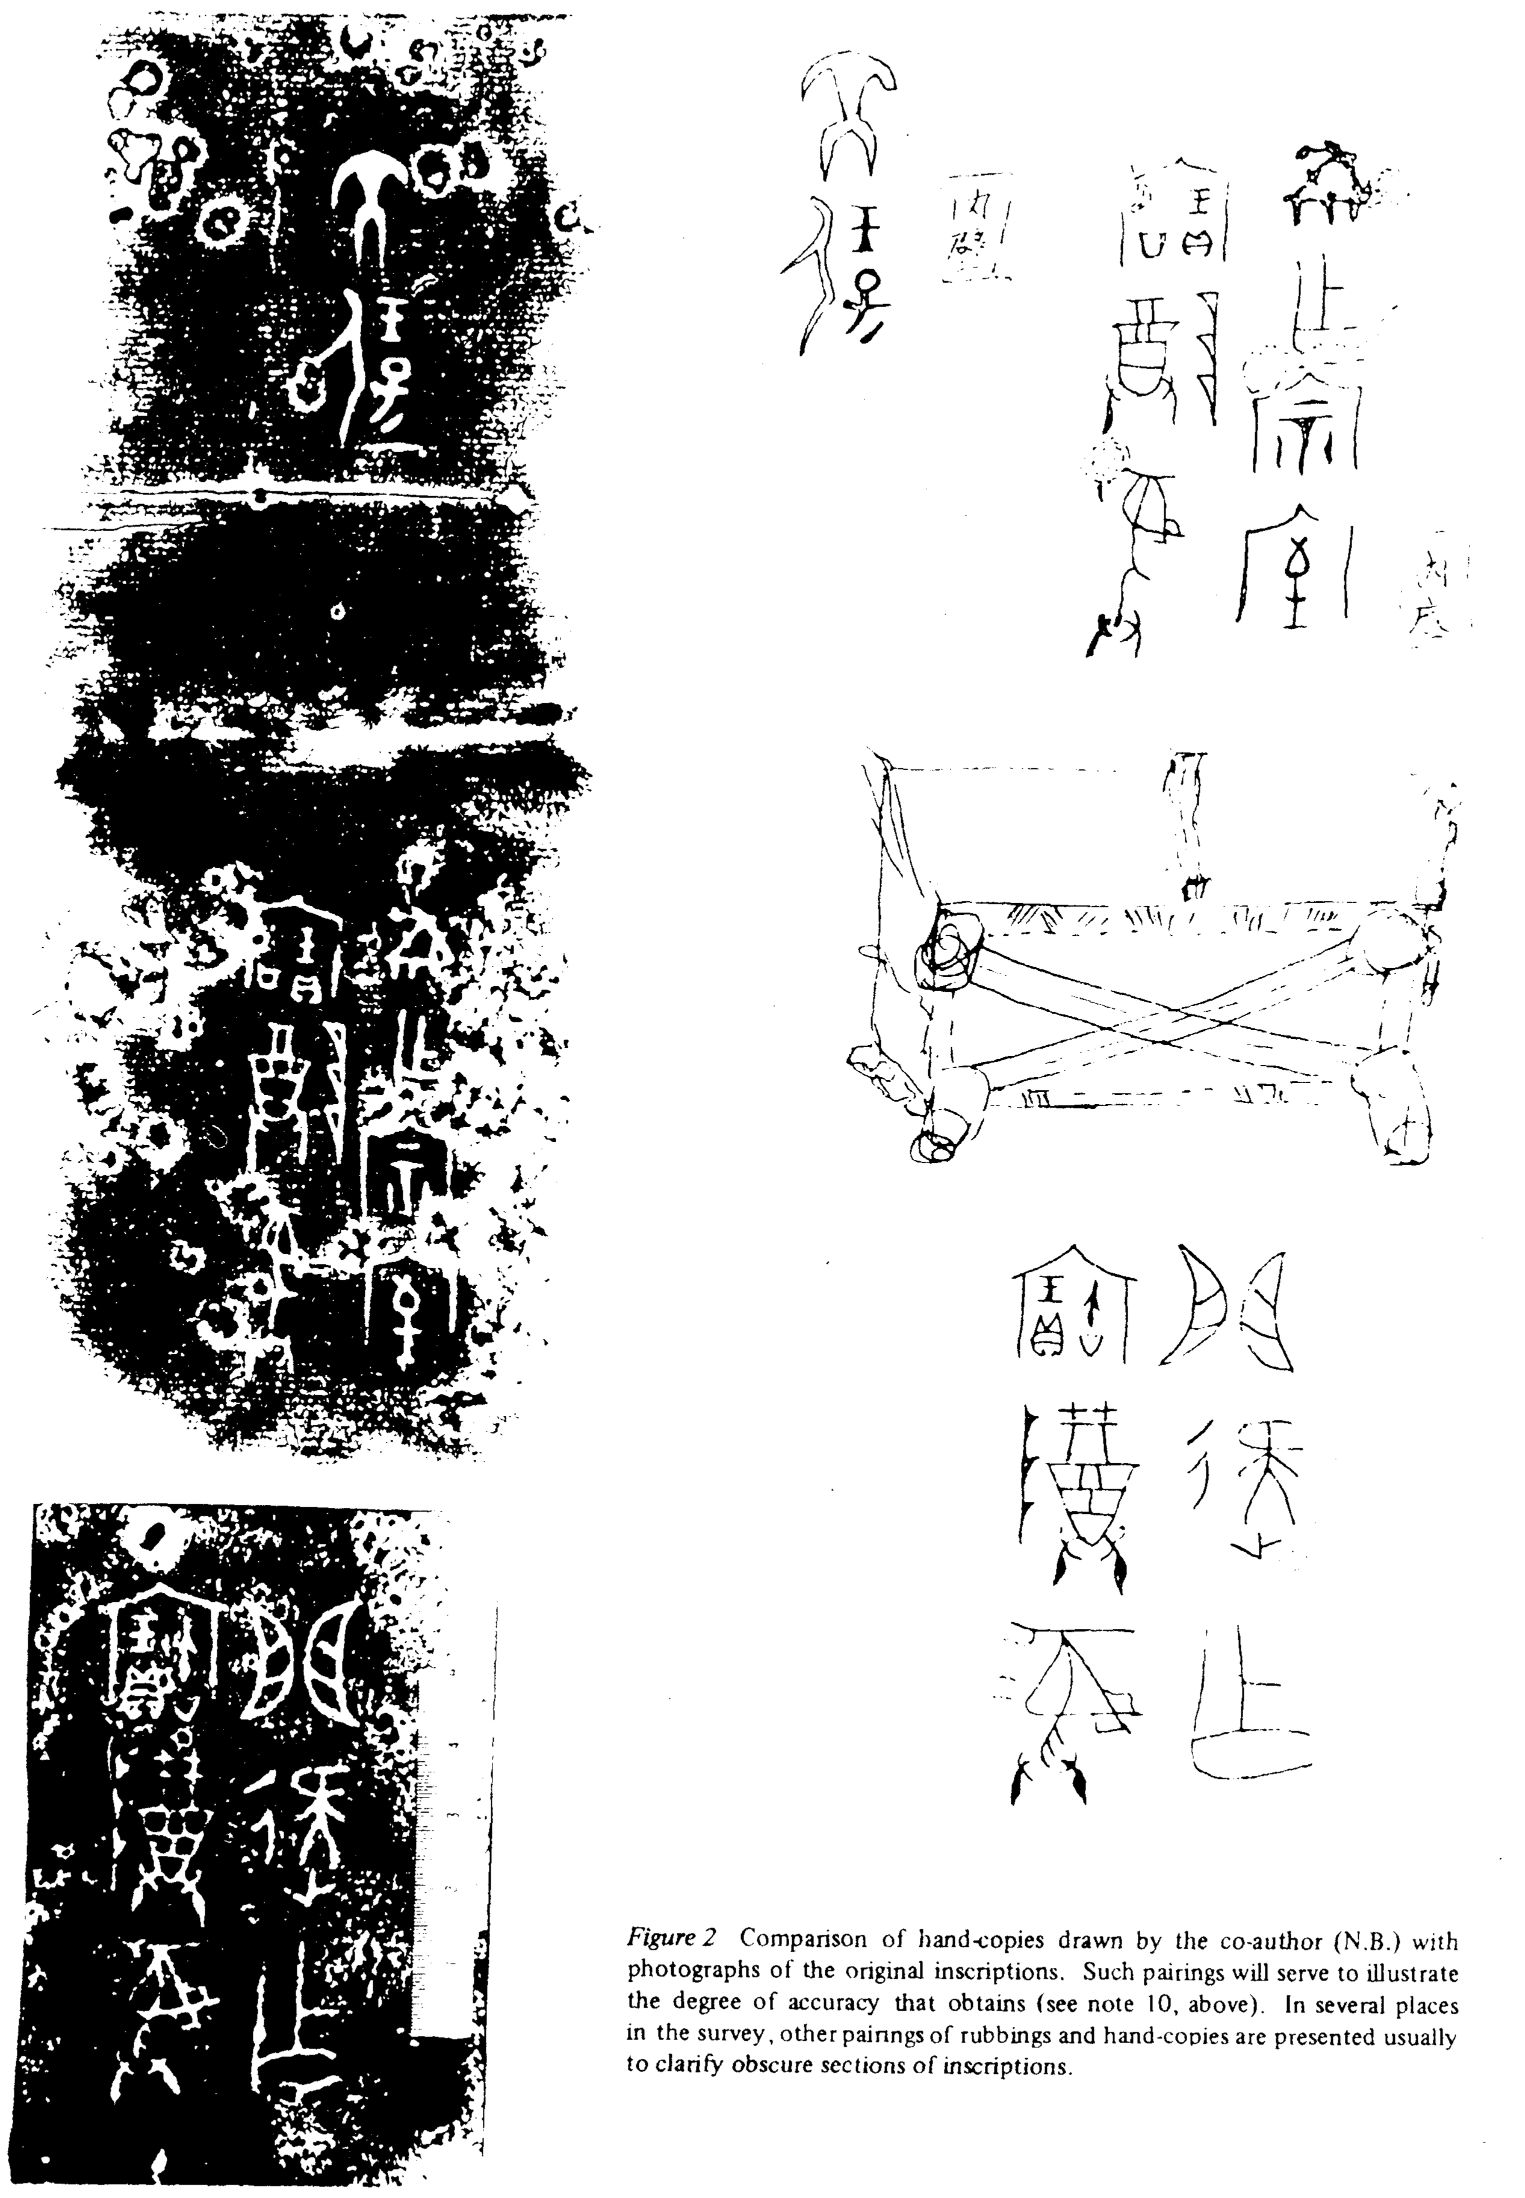

Figure 2 Comparison of hand-copies drawn by the co-author (N.B.) with photographs of the original inscriptions. Such pairings will serve to illustrate the degree of accuracy that obtains (see note 10, above). In several places in the survey, other pairings of rubbings and hand-copies are presented usually to clarify obscure sections of inscriptions.

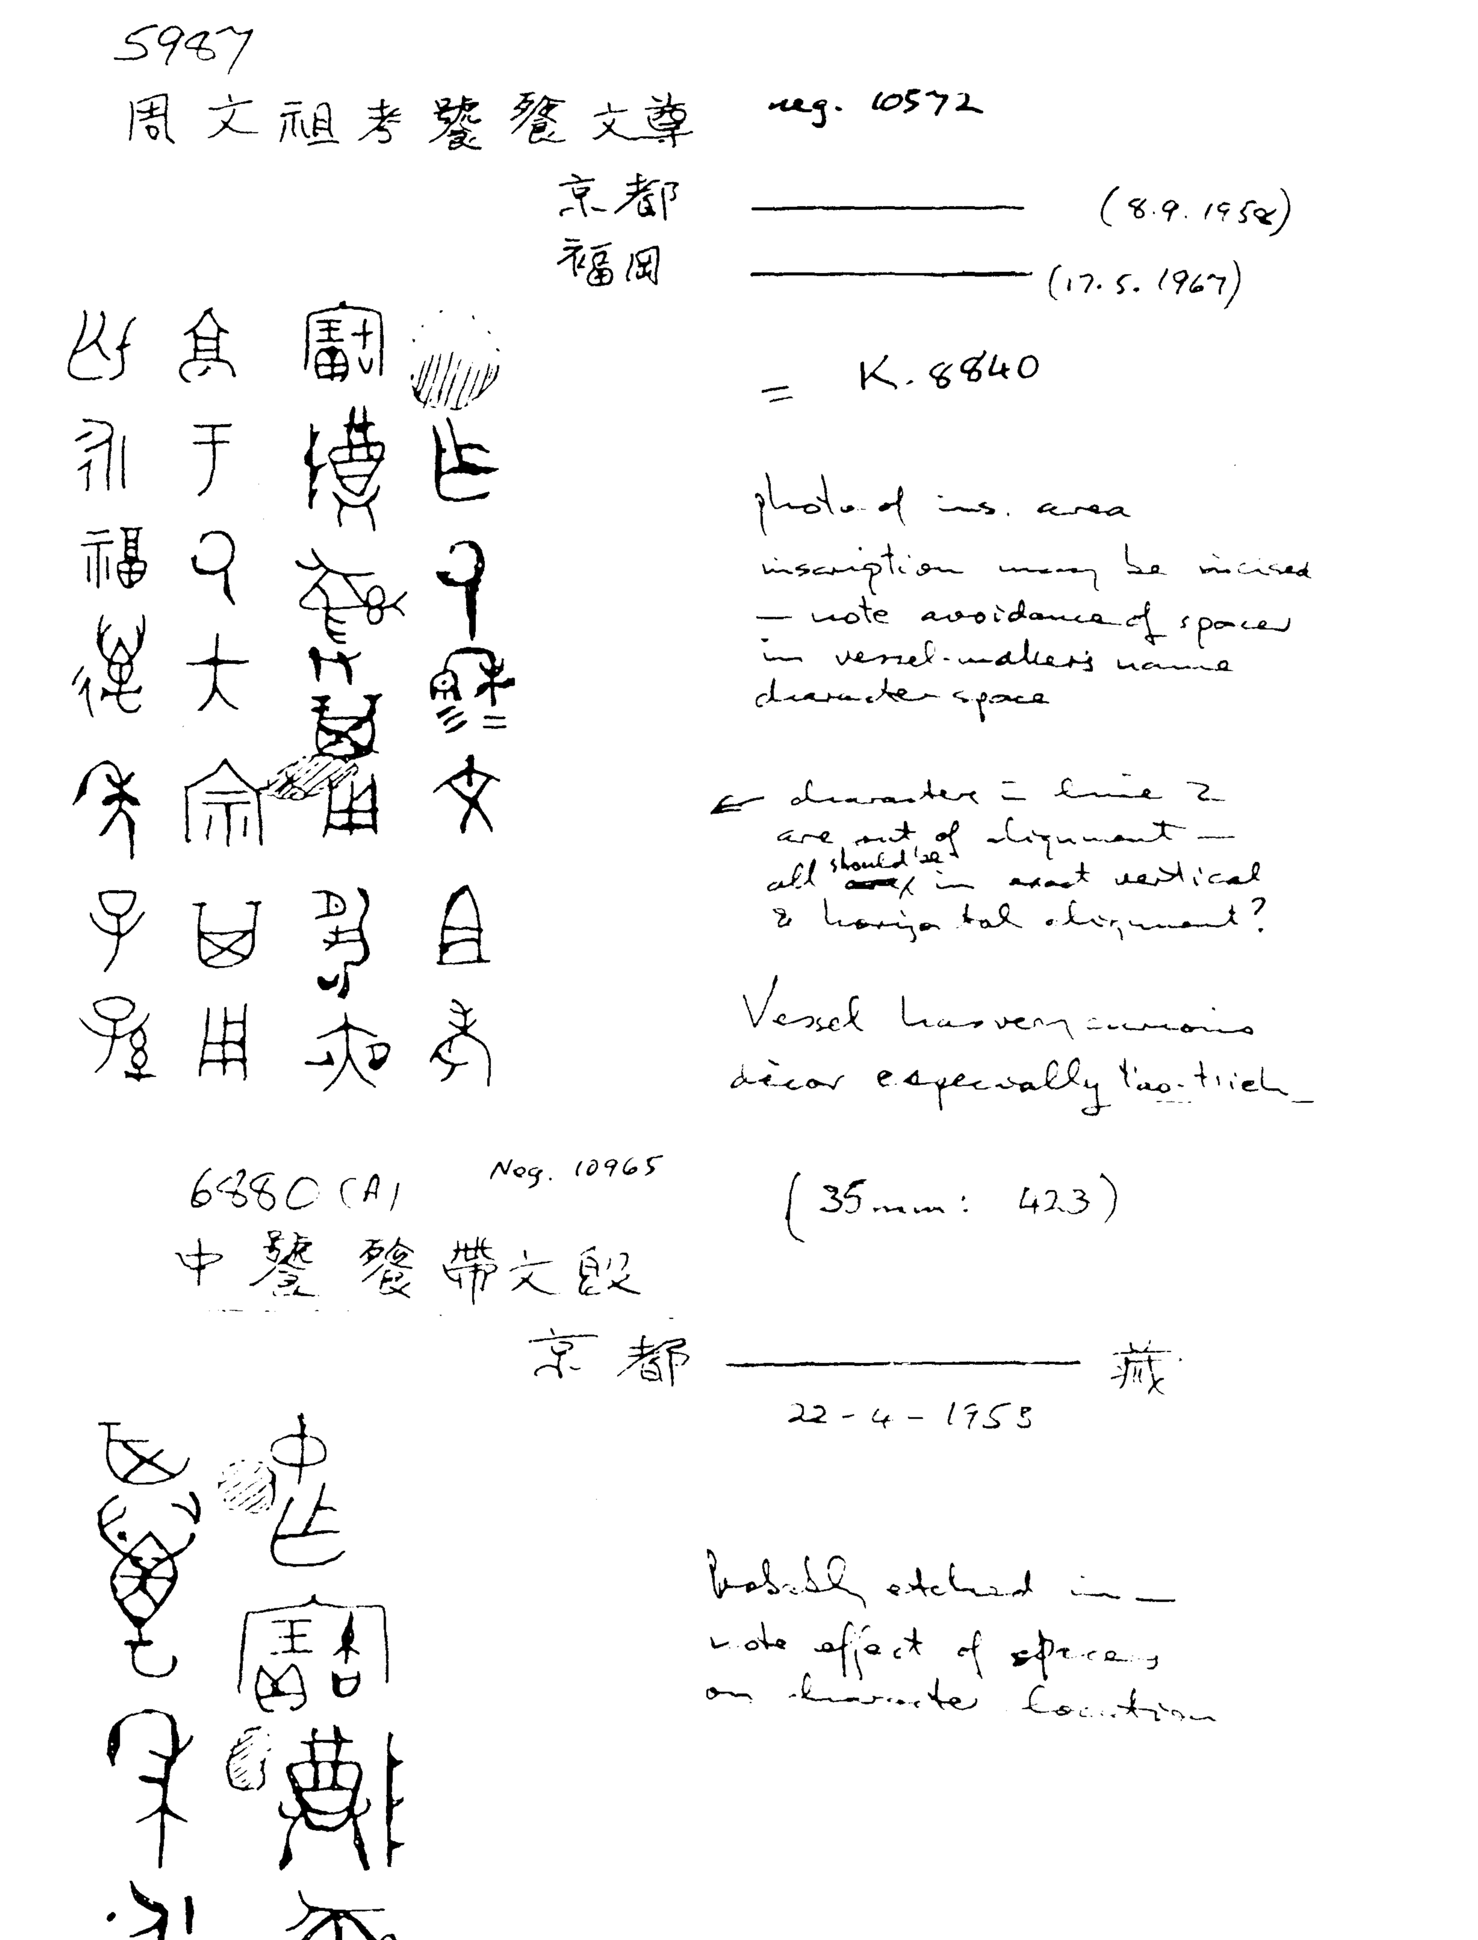

Figure 1 Reproductions of co-author's (N.B.) notes accompanying his hand-copies of inscription rubbings (original) or photographs of the inscription area which derive from his studies of files in the Kyoto Archives. The two examples selected here illustrate the co-author's interest in spacer locations in the text area as a possible means of determining the authenticity of an inscription. Observations recorded in these notes are, of course, tentative pending the opportunity of examining the original vessels directly.

4. Research File Number: As a matter of convenience – in the first instance to the co-authors – the File Number of each inscription is recorded; this has to do with our future research and publication plans. To the reader it may be useful should queries from him be addressed to us; also, if there is a photograph of the parent vessel in the File (and there are many on file that have not been published), an asterisk is placed after the Research File Number. Our future plans regarding the reproduction of vessel photographs are yet to be finalized.

5. Number of Characters: In parentheses after the Research File Number, the number of characters in the inscription is reported. This follows orthodox counting procedures (i.e. combined characters such as 𠦜，𠁷，𠦃，etc. are regarded as two separate graphs, and similarly, repeated characters e.g. 子 孫). Clan-signs, however, are generally counted as a single graph regardless of their complexity.

6. Inscription Identification Number: In all my publications on the inscriptions, individual inscriptions are allocated an identification, or serial, number. Where a relatively small group of inscriptions is surveyed in an article, the use of identification numbers has definite advantages. Where large numbers of inscriptions are involved, disadvantages may sometimes outweigh the convenient aspects of the identification numbers. However, with an eye to the future and with the expectation that the computor may be brought into inscription studies before long, it is essential that some means of codifying the inscriptions – and even the component characters – be established. It is essential that the system be applicable not only to extant bronze (and other archaeological) documents, but also it should be one fairly easily applicable to newly discovered documents. The system I use seems to meet these and other such requirements reasonably well: basically the identification number is the number of character-spaces for separately written graphs in the inscription – this obviates problems inherent in orthodox counting especially where characters, repetition signs, etc., are obscure.[12] In combination with the character-space count is a second number which merely denotes the order of record of each inscription in my files – there is, of course, an obvious disadvantage here: others must wait the appearance of the allocated number for each new inscription before it becomes generally known. The advantage, however, is that each new inscription that comes to light will fit into the system without causing any disruption. Extant inscriptions are further divided into three major groups: those in the Sung Catalogues denoted by the letter "S" preceding the identification number; those in the Imperial Ch'ing Catalogues and Early Ch'ing Catalogues which are denoted by the letter "T"; inscriptions which first appear since circa 1890-1900 are generally classed as "Recent" and, at present, lack a letter denoting the point.[13] In a forthcoming work I propose to employ the letter "A" to denote inscrip-

12. To those unfamiliar with the inscriptions, it would seem strange that disagreement in totals should attend documents of only a few scores or a few hundreds of characters each. Yet there are traps that have caught all of us on one occasion or another. In the early stages of our work we simply followed the count as given in Hayashi's San-tai chi-chin-wen ts'un ch'i-ying ts'an-chiao mu-lu 三代吉金文存器影參照目錄 for the "orthodox" totals. However, recent spot checks of these totals have shown the presence of rather too many discrepancies. Accordingly, a general re-count had to be made (and considerable rearrangement of the inscription order had to be effected). Needless to mention, we would not wish to claim that our totals are better than anyone else's, but we hope that mishaps in counting will be found appreciably less. There is, I believe, only one way to deal with this problem: each inscription must be written out in a regular grid frame. This exercise serves several purposes: (1) The writer is forced to demonstrate to others exactly how he sees the inscription. (2) If errors are made, or his interpretations should constitute debatable conclusions, the reader has something definite to base his counter-arguments upon. (3) Precise references to individual characters or phrases is facilitated. (4) Reconstructions of obscured texts can sometimes be achieved with an acceptable degree of reliability (cf. my reconstruction of the damaged areas of the Ch'u Silk Manuscript). It should be noted, too, that two counts for any particular inscription are involved: that for the Direct Transcription and that for the Modern Character Transcription – see The Ch'u Silk Manuscript – Translation and Commentary, pp. 214-220 for several examples of the points touched upon here.

13. The distinction between Ch'ing Catalogues and Recent Catalogues is not as precise as I would wish it to be. Roughly speaking, the majority of Ch'ing Catalogues reproduce the inscription in wood block printing. Those with the inscriptions reproduced as rubbings by photographic applications to the printing plate preparation are generally classed as Recent. But there are exceptions in each group. As the division is made for only general convenience the dividing line of a decade has been found reasonably satisfactory.

is its representation of the nature of the inscription holdings of a large variety of public and private Collections. In order to maintain a balance between Western, Japanese, and Chinese holdings we have added a score or so items known to be in the Shanghai Museum to the relevant original rubbings in my Collection. However, in the case of the Palace Museum, Taipei, although I have collected over a hundred original rubbings of inscriptions deriving from the more important vessels in this tremendous Collection and have reproduced them all in the present book, no further items have been added because a new Catalogue of the Palace Museum Bronzes is in the course of preparation.

Accordingly, each inscription reproduced in the present Catalogue is accompanied by several entries whose immediate proximity to the inscription rubbing, or hand-copy, should be found both useful and convenient. The content of the entries may be noted as follows:

1. The Vessel-name: Normally, this comprises the vessel-maker's name (or, name and rank) and the vessel-type (i.e. Ting, Kuei, Hu, etc.). So far as possible the vessel-name presented here is that by which the inscribed vessel is generally known – in a few cases two well known but variant names for the same inscribed vessel may be offered. However, the aim is to keep such complexities to a minimum. The vessel-name in Chinese characters is placed vertically alongside each inscription.

2. Series Number: The same inscription text may be duplicated throughout two or more vessels, or vessel-lid sets. In such cases the numerals (一), (二), (三), etc. follow the vessel-name. Series numbers used here are not intended to match those used in other Catalogues, e.g. we have presented only three Sung Kuei (頌𣪘) and two Sung Ting (頌鼎) and simply number them in order of appearance.

3. Romanised Vessel-name: For the convenience of Western writers in our field a romanised version of the vessel-name is presented. In the case of straightforward characters there is, of course, no problem. However, in deciding upon suitable sound values for graphs such as 𠂤，𣐧，覞，𦞠， etc. I have selected as a basis, an available transcription into a modern character equivalent which would seem to be "reasonably acceptable" – purely a subjective consideration; or I have taken the phonetic element (or an element that seems to be the phonetic) and have regarded it as being indicative of the sound of the whole character. So far as possible the letter "X" is avoided. There are very good reasons why we must use some sound value – even if it is, in all probability, incorrect – to represent unknown characters such as those above. Respectively they have been romanised as: 𠂤 (= 乖 ?) kuai; 𣐧 (= 縣 ?): Hsien; 覞 (見 =phonetic?): Chien; 𦞠 (能 =phonetic?): Neng; etc. There is little, or no, scholarship involved in opting for these sound values – convenience is the key point, and it is a matter of convenience specifically for Western language use. The important consideration is that the sound values should henceforth be generally accepted.[11]

11. In several earlier writings I have discussed the matter of romanisation problems noted above and have applied the same rather arbitrary methods of "creating sounds", as it were, instead of practising the Chinese method of caution which is simply to read the characters without allocating sound values to them. A Chinese can do this with minimal inconvenience for the very nature of his written language is largely visual rather than aural – even a Western student working amongst Chinese texts may often tend to take little heed as to the correct sound and tone of characters. This "laziness" will develop where one has little opportunity to engage in conversation, but one reads visually just as effectively as a polished speaker. However, when it comes to translation into another language (even into Japanese!) the enigmatic archaic graphs must be given a sound value. And as many of the graphs in question are interpreted (and transcribed) by different scholars in different ways agreement on sound values cannot always be expected. In the samples cited above, for instance, the archaic graph [graph] is variously read as 乖 kuai, 羌 ch'iang, 羊 yang(?), or simply rendered in archaic form as [graph] , [graph] , etc. In an English translation the last two would normally be indicated by "X". This symbol is, however, meaningless and, indeed, useless for representation of individual archaic graphs. If the third rendering is adopted, one has to decide whether to take 羊 or 𠔁 as the phonetic; most would opt for yang. The second can be dismissed, as there are ample examples of the archaic form of the modern graph 羌 to show this transcription to be one of highly doubtful validity. The first one has the merit of being close to the Shuo-wen graph [graph] : 乖 but it, too, is by no means a definite identification. In this particular case I have decided, however, to use 乖 kuai as the sound value – the reason for the choice is simply that there are so few characters with this sound! Accordingly, it is purely a matter of romanisation convenience. When the character occurs in contexts illustrating its meaning it may become possible to proceed a step further and discover its modern character equivalent. (For definitions and examples of the terms "modern character equivalent", "modern character parallel", etc., see The Ch'u Silk Manuscript – Translation and Commentary, p. 33)

reader can see at a glance the general "history" of each item. Full page references are noted. In the compilation of this information useful sources such as Ferguson's Li-tai chu-lu chi-chin mu 歷代著錄吉金目, Hayashi's San-tai chi-chin-wen ts'un ch'i-ying ts'an-chiao mu-lu 三代吉金文字器影參照目錄, Shirakawa Shizuka's 白川靜 Kimbun tsushaku 金文通釋, etc., have been carefully consulted and numerous cases of confusion therein in the identification of vessel-inscriptions, lid-inscriptions, and individual inscriptions throughout a series, and other such mishaps have been rectified.[16]

The Bibliographical Lists are to be regarded as comprehensive rather than complete, and as observed above, the published sources are restricted mainly to Catalogues. However, we have not attempted to list all Western Catalogues – especially such items as Ackerman's The Ritual Bronzes of China, William Watson Ancient Chinese Bronzes, Rene-Yvon Lefebvre d'Argence Ancient Chinese Bronzes in the Avery Brundage Collection, the various illustrated articles by Bernhard Karlgren, etc., while articles on individual inscribed bronzes or small groups thereof, are only occasionally cited. In the Commentary Volumes, the aim is to attempt to compile complete Bibliographies for each inscription, but meantime we present a reasonably comprehensive working list of sources with special attention being given to the earliest sources published or compiled. So far as possible all reproduced rubbings cited and any earlier shuang-kou (雙鈎) hand-copies or wood block-print renderings of the same inscriptions have been carefully checked against each other. This has resulted in the discovery of a number of spurious copies of original inscriptions which have not been observed previously, many incorrect assignments of "lid" or "vessel", and confusion in the larger Catalogues especially and also in the lists of Ferguson, Hayashi, Shirakawa, Kuo Mo-jo, etc. of individual rubbings and parent vessels, vessel-lid sets, duplications of identical rubbings treated as originating from different original inscriptions, and many other such mishaps. Details of all such findings will be incorporated in the Commentary Volumes.

In the present Bibliographical Lists are incorporated references to several collections of original rubbings with the aim of elaborating later in the Commentary Volumes important points derived from seals, colophons ch'üan-hsing t'o-pen representation of the parent vessels, and other such documentation recorded in our files. Several major compilations of rubbings in the Fu Ssu-nien Library, Academia Sinica, Nan-kang, and the very impressive collection of some 670 ch'üan-hsing t'o-pen in the National Central Library, Taipei, have been examined and very useful and detailed notes on seals, colophons, etc. have been prepared by Dr. Cheung. I have also worked through the latter Collection making notes on the vessels, décor, inscription locations, physical aspects of the inscription characters, locations of spacers in the inscription areas, assessments where possible of etching, and have made hand-copies of several scores of the inscriptions. Some of these are reproduced in the present volumes. Similarly, references are given to inscriptions entered in the "Kyoto Archives" (the code letter "K" precedes the "Archives" file number) where addition information of value is preserved – this will appear in the Commentary Volumes. If significant, the date of the entry is added, and the presence of vessel photographs in the "Archives" file is also indicated. It is obvious, of course, that the full significance of the unpublished source data which we have assembled will not be available for consultation by most readers until the projected Commentary Volumes are published. The present volumes of illustration are planned to cope with only that amount of data presentation which the renderings. The asterisk should simply be taken to indicate that at least one of the items in a series of identically inscribed vessels is reproduced as a photograph (or ch'üan-hsing t'o-pen) in the source cited – whether it is the particular vessel containing the inscription or not may sometimes require further investigation. Details of this kind will receive greater attention in the Commentary Volumes.

16. We have found helpful, too, Gilbert L. Mattos' Supplementary Data on the Bronze Inscriptions Cited in Chin-wen ku-lin 金文詁林 (pre-publication copy) which arrived recently while we were part way through the Bibliographical Lists preparation. Greater recourse will be made to this compendium in the Commentary Volumes. In the Chinese Introduction, Dr. Cheung presents many examples of errors and confusion that have come to light in the course of his compilation of the Bibliographical Lists and our intercomparison of reproduced rubbings. These are of interest mainly to the specialist and are more convenient to study in Chinese – I direct the reader to his Introduction, p. 20.

tions which have been excavated under conditions of control.

In a series of inscriptions embodying the same text in different vessels, or in vessel-lid sets, the individual inscriptions are codified as: (v.a), (v.b), (v.c), etc. for vessels, and (l.a), (l.b), (l.c), etc. for the lids.

Clan-sign type inscriptions have a special means of codification which will be elaborated upon later in the preliminary pages of the relevant volume. It should be noted that in "text" inscriptions where clan-signs may appear, we count the clan-sign (no matter how many component graphs it may comprise) as a single character. Even in the orthodox totals the clan-sign counts as one character, Thus variations between our totals and those of others will be found due to this convention in certain cases.

7. Present Location: The Museum, or private Collection, in which the vessel is lodged is next recorded and where possible, the accession number (or other known identification code number) is presented along with the entry and the whole enclosed by brackets. A question mark indicates that we have no record of the accession number.[14] A dash only between the brackets means that we have as yet no background data regarding present ownership of the vessel. At the time of examination, if the vessel was on sale in an antique dealer's shop, the entry is given as: [A.D.: New York], [A.D.: Osaka], etc. There are various reasons that anonymity should be preserved. Where the information derives from the "Kyoto Archives" I have also extended this practice to the names of antique shops, private Collections, etc. at the request of Professor Hayashi. Only if the information of ownership in the case of private Collections or antique dealers (as it appears in the "Archives") has actually already been published (e.g. in Nihon shūcho Shina kodō seika, O-Bei shūcho Shina kodō seika, etc.) is it repeated in these volumes. Naturally, one cannot be certain as to the understandings that may have been made when these materials were individually entered in the "Archives". Thus the entries: [P.C.: Kyoto], [P.C.: Tokyo], [P.C.: Japan], etc., appear; the very general entry "Japan" is used where the actual geographical location itself (e.g. a small town with probably only the one major private Collection) may lead to possible identification. If, however, any individual Collector would prefer to be mentioned, provision will be made for inclusion of such entries in an Addenda to be incorporated in the Continuation Volume.

As to the dates of ownership, such details are mainly reserved for inclusion in the Commentary Volumes. However, assessments may be made from the entries alongside each inscription e.g. the publication date of the latest Catalogue (e.g. Palace, Shanghai, Pillsbury, Freer, etc.); my own examinations have been generally conducted between the years 1953–present, thus entries such as Carter, Nelson, Brundage, NGV, ROM, etc. indicate that the inscribed bronzes concerned were in the specified Collections at one stage during the last two decades. Those in American Collections can be narrowed down from the date of my first field trip there: 1961. Private ownership of vessels is not always static but, generally speaking, vessels in public Collections will continue to remain in situ.

8. Bibliographical Background: Along with each inscription is listed most of the major Catalogues and some lesser sources (e.g. articles) in which the inscription has been reproduced. If an asterisk appears alongside the abbreviated book title, this indicates that a representation of the parent vessel (usually a photograph but sometimes only a line-drawing or a ch'üan-hsing t'o-pen) is also available in the publication.[15] The date of publication is recorded with each entry, as a result the

14. Some of the accession numbers as recorded in my original notes may not be correct. This would be due mainly to the wearing away of the ink or of the label paper on the artifact, or to other forms of obscurity. In some cases new systems of accession numbers may have been implemented, too. For the most part, however, the accession numbers as recorded here should be found reliable. Although records of accession numbers may be found recorded in some of the repertories, or in other published sources, we have not attempted to search exhaustively for this kind of data, nor even to approach public and private collections with requests for details of the missing accession numbers in my files. Only if the data is conveniently recorded therein is it presented here.

15. In the case of a series of vessels, bells, etc., we have not at this stage aimed for exact identification of all photographic parent vessels, period of manufacture, etc. However, these matters will receive full attention in their proper place; and in our presentation of the overall nature of the holdings of the various public and private Collections in China, Japan, and the West, it will later be found both interesting and instructive to observe the general character of individual Collections, the nature and the extent of spurious, doubtful, and archaistic inscribed pieces in each Collection, the tendency of various types of forged inscribed bronzes to gravitate towards one Collection or towards another, the times that particular "schools" of fakers thrived (as indicated by the dates of sale, the dates of accession, the dates of ownership earliest indicated by seals and colophon data, etc.), and other such avenues of study that come to the fore when entire Collections are brought into the compass of a single survey.

Notwithstanding the emphasis in the preceding paragraph on inscriptions of debatable authenticity, it will be evident to even the most casual reader that many inscriptions of high standard and of undoubted historical validity grace the pages of our book. Not only this; we have been most fortunate in being able to supplement the basic materials of the book – the 1,350 original rubbings and hand-copies from my Collection – with several scores of photographs of rubbings lodged in the Fu Ssu-nien Library, Academia Sinica, Nan-kang, and the National Central Library, Taipei, amongst which many have not hitherto appeared in publication. We are especially indebted to Professor Ch'ü Wan-li 屈萬里, Director, Institute of History and Philology, Academia Sinica, and to Mr. William C. Ju 諸家駿, Director, National Central Library, for their kind and sympathetic attention to our requests for the supplementary materials incorporated in this survey. To be able to present a good photographic rendering of the Hsiao Yü Ting 小盂鼎 rubbing – which I believe to be the only original rubbing of this famous inscription in existence – together with the two spurious San Shih P'an inscription rubbings which have not hitherto been published, a particularly good rubbing of the Mao Kung Ting as well as the two spurious versions first recognized by Dr. Cheung in his survey on forgery,[18] and numerous other documents of comparable historical value and of considerable rarity does, indeed, add lustre to the more modest materials of our original compilation.

In finally deciding to prepare the book in Chinese style we worked out a number of compromises in matters of convention. Although examples are rather few, precedent for reversing the direction of reading to Western style can be found in Chinese style books – first to come to mind is Britton's Fang·Fa Han mo chia-ku pu-tz'u san-chung 方法斂摹甲骨卜辭三種 published by Yee Wen. We have decided to reverse the reading direction mainly because of the Commentary Volumes in which both the Chinese and the English text will be type-set in Western fashion. Pagination is continuous throughout the Volumes and is also in Western style: pp. 1a and 1b are respectively pp. 1 and 2 – this has been effected to ease the burden both of the type-setting and of the proof-reading of the Indexes, and naturally, the facility will be found welcome by most users of the book for reference purposes. Because of the high incidence of folding pages, the Chinese form of doubled page (and certain technical aspects of printing and binding) allows considerable economy to be effected.

Dr. Cheung has written kindly about my part in the venture and I would certainly wish to reciprocate in at least equal measure. Instead of elaborating further, however, I propose to comment in a little detail on the manner in which our work is done. The fact is we are conducting this programme of research and publication as a kind of experiment in cooperative yet independent research and writing. We have agreed to combine the advantages of cooperative effort with the personal satisfaction that naturally attends independent achievement. Accordingly, the English "Introduction" and the Chinese "Hsü" (序) differ in approaches, in emphases, to some extent in content (but, of course, with appreciable over-lap); we take the opportunity to engage in cross-reference from the Introduction to the Hsü, and vice-versa – to us both this is most useful as it saves elaboration on limitations of space, design, and function of the compilation allows.

18. Both are reproduced in small scale in the illustration section; see Wei-tso hsien-Ch'in yi-ch'i ming-wen su-yao 僞作先秦彝器銘文疏要 Nos. 132 and 133, and also his contribution "Some Aspects of Forgery in Inscribed Bronze Ritual Vessels of the Pre-Ch'in Period" in Noel Barnard (Ed.) Ancient Chinese Bronzes and Southeast Asian Metal and Other Archaeological Artifacts, pp. 200-201, (Figs. 3 and 4).

Indexes are in the course of preparation for inclusion in the final pages of the last volume of illustrations. We believe the reader will find these of assistance in many directions because not only are the vessel-names and vessel-makers' names listed, but also entries are arranged under the headings of: vessel-types, public collections, private collections and inscription identification numbers.

So much then for the general layout, aims, etc.

In the IllustrationVolumes we purposely have avoided the presentation of assessments relating to authenticity and chronology. The primary materials assembled here are to be regarded as documents for further study – not only by the co-authors in the forthcoming Commentary Volumes but also readers interested in the challenges offered by these documents. There are quite a few forgeries present in these pages and some are only too painfully obvious as such, others are much less obvious. Both Dr. Cheung and I have a special interest in the subject of forgers and their activities in our field and we are both of the opinion that unless the majority of those of us using these documents maintain a constant state of vigilance for spurious inscriptions, subtle creations will infiltrate the ranks of those inscriptions which are generally conceded to be beyond suspicion. In earlier Catalogue compilation the tendency has been that each compiler attempts to weed out faked and doubtful items and thus be able to claim, or to create the impression, that the compilations comprise for the most part dependable materials. However, when it comes to unprovenanced materials, this approach is rather too risky. It has, besides, the distinct disadvantage that the bases and methods of discarding the spurious and preserving the authentic cannot be checked and appraised by those interested and qualified to do so, while younger scholars entering the field of study will tend to fall into the pitfalls of "hero worship" and blithely assume that: ". . . . if we follow him and make it a rule never to quote a bronze which he has not sanctioned, we are certainly, on the whole, on the safe side." Such attitudes still seem to prevail although the fashion has well out-lived its allotted span because of the large increase of properly, and acceptably, attested inscribed bronzes from controlled excavations and well documented finds published over the last few decades.

Some really outrageous fakes and some quite clever ones are to be found in the pages which follow. A few instances of inscriptions which derive from archaistic pieces, and so are not essentially classifiable as forgeries, are to be noted – these have a place in our general field of study and sometimes provide useful indications of features which may also be characteristic of forgery. For the most part, however, we have restricted the number of archaistic inscriptions and have concentrated more upon those that are truly classifiable as forgeries.[17] Because of the appreciable incidence of forgery amongst Chinese bronzes in any Collection of note, a compilation of inscriptions could hardly be claimed to be representative unless examples of both doubtful and spurious items in the Collections concerned are cited along with the more generally accepted materials. Furthermore, the incorporation of known or alleged forgeries will not serve a particularly useful purpose unless detailed attention is given to the items in the inscription commentaries, and the characteristics of forgery are adequately discussed. It will be appreciated that the Illustration Volumes are not the appropriate place for such discussion, thus we have not presented any assessments as to the authenticity of the inscriptions, the 17. In many Collections inscribed bronzes of Ming and Ch'ing period manufacture contain texts written in a distinct calligraphic style such as those represented by Rubbings Nos. 84, 85, 211, 226, etc. In the case of the first two items which are obviously copied from Sung Catalogue renderings, reproductions of the wood-block printed prototypes are placed alongside for purposes of comparison. It is instructive to have some examples of such archaistic inscriptions scattered amongst the more generally accepted inscriptions of pre-Han date, or style. Collectors cherishing inscribed vessels of this calibre are often unaware of the true nature of their treasures, thus the subject will be given detailed attention in the Commentary Volumes and a number of other examples will be reproduced.

In the notes accompanying each inscription in the present compilation, it may be observed that a more exhaustive bibliography (each item with its date of publication given) is presented in contradistinction to items 1. and 2. above. Very conveniently, however, Ch'en gives information in respect to previous ownership (we do likewise in the Commentary Volumes) and an assessment of the date of the inscribed artifact. As already noted Ch'en scores heavily in having photographs of each vessel reproduced.

Just as this survey went to press a brochure advertising the publication of Ch'en Meng-chia's compilation described above came to our attention. It is, indeed, most gratifying not only to see the entire book reproduced and at long last made available to scholars outside Mainland China to consult but also that a sensible title is given to the book and the author is given the credit due to him. Kyūko shoin 汲古書院 is to be heartily congratulated in thus washing away some of the more obvious stains of political/ideological concepts that quite unnecessarily permeate the general scene of Chinese scholarship of recent decades in our field. The title of the work is now: Yin-Chou ch'ing-t'ung-ch'i fen-lie t'u-lu 殷周青銅器分類圖錄, and Ch'en's name as the compiler prominently displayed.

Fortunately, we shall now be able to incorporate a form of cross-reference to the vessel illustrations (and to other data) in Ch'en's survey together with the indexes in the last volume.*

* During his stay in Toronto, Dr Cheung Kwong-yue saw an original copy of Ch'en's book in the Royal Ontario Museum Library. This means that there were at least two copies available outside Mainland China prior to Kyūko Shoin's reprinting of the book.

matters which either one of us feels is best left to the other to deal with, and even if we do not refer always to the content of the other's writing, we may reasonably assume that bi-lingual readers will consult both writings. Although we each are essentially addressing readers in our respective languages and thus cater for the "uni-lingual" reader up to a point, it is our expectation that the specialist reader will consult both writings – especially in the Commentary Volumes where the full value of this approach should be found evident. It goes without saying, of course, that before, during, and after writing up the results of our researches on each inscription, we engage in discussions on detailed aspects of the subjects, read each other's notes, early drafts, etc., revise ideas, recast presentations, and even decide on occasions to report some points of disagreement. One thing we are not doing is simply to engage in idle translation of each other's work. Our approach is one we believe should be found valuable by our readers on many counts.

Just before the present Introduction was sent to the printer for type-setting I gained access to a copy of the Mainland Chinese publication: Mi ti-kuo-chu-yi chieh-lüeh ti wo-kuo Yin-Chou t'ung-ch'i chi-lu 美帝國主義劫掠的我國殷周銅器集錄.[19] For many years several of us have tried to ascertain whether it had been actually published and thence even to seek a copy. Its projected publication was long ago mentioned in Li-shih yen-chiu (1962.6:179-180), and it is common knowledge outside Mainland China that the compilation resulted from the late Ch'en Meng-chia's 陳夢家 travels and researches amongst foreign Collections some 20 years ago and was actually written by him. Ch'en fell into disfavour in the late 50's because of some political or ideological differences of opinion, apparently, and his work was either proscribed, or was published under the alleged authorship of institutional research teams (e.g. the particularly naive instance attending his invaluable study: Wu-wei Han-chien 武威漢簡). In the present book his name does not appear at all!

Ch'en's compilation contains about 1,000 photographs of the parent vessels and some 500 rubbings of the inscribed pieces. With only a few exceptions, all the inscribed artifacts will be found reproduced in the present book and practically all the vessels are incorporated in my research files and have been personally examined by me.[20] As only 550 copies of Ch'en's book were printed – and apparently only this one copy (at present in Tokyo) has passed through the "bamboo curtain" – there is little fear of duplication arising from the co-existence of the two compilations. On the contrary, the fine collection of photographs which constitutes the bulk of the book, would offer most useful supplementary illustration to the present compilation if only copies were made available. So far as over-lap of data is concerned, comparison of Ch'en's notes and our's confirms the happy situation that ownership of both books is well worth contemplating. The following example taken from Ch'en's notes is reasonably representative of the whole:

A 237: 番生段（蓋）
1. 陶齋 2.16, 獲古 26 [vessel illustration and rubbing]
2. 三代 9.37a, R [rubbing only]

5. 西周中朝（約夷王）
6. 劉心源，與雲，端方，山中 [previous owners, dealers, etc.]
7. 納爾遜 32.68.6 [Nelson Gallery of Art]
8. [Observations, comparisons with other vessels, etc., but mostly very brief]

19. "An Inventory of Our Nation's Yin and Chou Period Bronze Vessels Plundered by American Imperialists" – so might the title be translated – compiled by the Archaeological Research Institute of the Chinese Academy of Science, published by the Science Press, Peking, 1962 (中國科學院考古研究所編, 科學出版社出版).

20. During the course of five field-trips to the USA and Canada, it was my good fortune to be able to study some 2,000 or more bronze artifacts in various public and private Collections. Photographs of the entire artifact as well as detail views recording casting features, the nature of the décor, interesting characteristics of the inscription grooves, presence of fossilised fabric in which the artifact was wrapped prior to burial, ancient and recent repairs, etc. are entered in the files together with measurements, rubbings, and notes made during the process of examination. These data form the basis of much of the information appearing in the projected Commentary Volumes.

經目驗知容庚語可信。

②伯旅尊(二)　三代 13.18.2 著錄作卣。原器現存美國帝揚博物館 Avery Brundage Collection, M.H. de Young Memorial Museum, San Francisco (Brundage: B60.B1043)器形實爲尊，附兩耳。今改稱曰尊。

③小臣謎段(二)　國立故宮博物院藏器。諸家著錄僅錄蓋或器銘，蓋、器二銘合併著錄者，唯見本編。且此本乃編者手拓，故無可疑。

④錄遺 164 善夫梁其段，只錄器銘，中國文字第一期董作賓梁其壺一文，曾附此段蓋銘手摹本。此器曾見於台北國華堂，今已爲澳洲雪梨 Miklos Grunberg 氏所得。余親拓其蓋、器二銘，可補錄遺之缺。

⑤圖錄 43.1 史頌段。現藏日本奈良寧樂美術館，余曾目驗，因知圖錄著錄其銘作「器」者，實乃「蓋」銘之誤。

⑥三代 8.40.2–41.1 函皇父段。現藏日本天理參考館，余嘗手自摩挲，因知攈古、日華、圖錄、三代諸家著錄，皆蓋、器互誤。

⑦三代 7.25.3 散伯段，只錄蓋銘。原器現藏美國福格博物館 Fogg Art Museum, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. (Fogg: 1939.202) 蓋、器全，今補其缺。

此外，如三代稱簋之器，實皆爲盨，近人已有定論，如

a　三代 10.30.1 白太師盨，現藏美國西雅圖博物館 Seattle Art Museum (Seattle: Ch.6.42)

b　三代 10.28.2 朩謀父盨，現藏加拿大皇家安大略博物館 Royal Ontario Museum (ROM)

今既審知諸器原貌，遂皆還其本名。又舊著錄中每有「彝」一類前賢如陳簠齋已悟其失，更彝爲敦；王國維說彝復有所發明，容庚於通考下編第一章食器簋項下，更詳道其原委。而三代中以彝爲名之器尙多，如

中、日、歐、美、澳、紐所見所拓所摹金文彙編序

余客居南國，與巴納博士共治古銅器之學，時光荏苒，匆匆五年於茲矣。先是目眩於澳洲國立圖書館東方部所藏甲、金書籍之富，復得盡觀巴納所藏，更如入寶山。余之博士論文：僞作先秦彝器銘文疏要，受其惠澤者實多。先生治學，孜孜不倦，余未嘗見其一日稍息；二十年來足跡所及，於中、日、歐、美、澳、紐公私所藏青銅器，摩挲不下二千餘品，本編所收諸器拓本摹本等，泰半卽其歷年心力所聚也，其中先生手拓墨本一千三百五十餘事固可貴矣；而其東遊時搜購或攝影所得之舊拓，如蘇氏篤慶堂藏拓、雪堂藏拓、弘齋藏三代吉金文字等，皆海內外孤本。又於京都大學人文科學研究所所存公私藏器資料卡數千葉，詳閱一過，其中有礙於規定，不克攝影者，則細摹存之，卽集中手摹本是也。如此巨帙，以一己之力，裒集流布，其功誠不可沒。余以晚生，承命於諸器之著錄司參稽校理之役。編校既竟，問世有期；爰述其編校概畧，以就正於方家。

壹、注明現存銅器庋藏所在

近百年來私家所藏古器，爲賈人販售於海外者甚多，好古者往往欲一見墨本而不可得，至於某器今藏何所，除歐華、日華、海外、斷代及通釋諸作曾予以記載外，蓋未有作通盤之記錄者。且歐華、日華諸書，刊行年代既遠，數十年間，著錄諸器，每已數易其主，如仍依舊著錄，必多失實。是編所收，因多係經目驗之器，故收藏一欄，自可徵信。如因所錄只係舊拓，而未悉原器藏處者，則姑守蓋闕之義，俟諸異日增補。

貳、正昔賢著錄之疏失

（甲）因目驗原器而正舊時著錄之疏誤者。

本編輯錄諸器，因多係編者目驗及手拓，故每有正舊著錄之誤，或補其未備者，如：

①趞段　三代 4.33.2 及小校 3.25.2 俱作鼎，僅韓華丙18題作趞敦，容庚則於金文編索引目下正之曰段。是器現藏日本書道博物館。

27.316)

c　三代 6.46.2 遽伯還彝。現藏美國納爾遜美術館William Rockhill Nelson Gallery of Art, Kansas City (Nelson: 47.26)

d　三代 6.49.3 白中父彝。現藏納爾遜美術館（37.68/43）

e　三代 6.54.2 周公彝。現藏英國不列顚博物館British Museum, London (British)

今參核諸家藏品器形，遂皆更稱爲𣪘。惟舊拓銘文有但稱乍某某障彝而未審爲何器者，如卿彝（二十五字，蘇氏16），令彝（四十二字，蘇氏18）之類，以未能詳其器形，則仍以「彝」名之。

（乙）因校理而正其疏失者。

本編參稽諸家之書，因證知舊著錄之疏失者，亦多有之，如

①二玄社金文集四冊，曾將器形與銘文配合著錄，其意雖佳，惟間有湊合之嫌，如

a　170 號衛(賢)𣪘銘，乃愙齋9.7.2著錄，而 171 號所列器形則係故宮藏器，其銘容庚嘗定爲仿刻，二玄社乃張冠李戴。

b　366 號兮甲盤銘，乃簠齋藏器拓本，而 367 號器形則係書道所藏僞器，此亦誤合之一例。

c　第四集索引簠項下列有 421 號陳侯簠一器，然簠 421 號所錄乃匜形。查匜項 421，422 號乃陳伯元匜之器形及拓本，因知實非陳侯簠。通釋 37.211 陳侯𣪘條引陳侯簠，於著錄目中亦誤增入二玄 421，宜正。

②上海博物館藏青銅器80號邵鐘條下，稱館藏其六器，而該著錄只錄其一。惟著錄目下則遍列攈古、綴遺、周存、愙齋諸家著錄。按：綴遺 2.4 乃三代 1.54.2 之鐘(一)，周存 1.16 亦非上海所錄，上海80所錄者，乃周存1.18 著錄，吳恆軒藏器；其稱引愙齋1.11 著錄者亦誤。

③大系圖錄37競𣪘(二)注云:「此乃無蓋之𣪘，凡二器，同銘，均入坎拿大；集古遺文錄二銘，以爲一蓋一器，非也。」三代 8.36亦沿貞松而誤，今訂正。惟大系錄拓本仍鈐「蓋」字，此蓋所選拓本出於三代，故有是誤歟？

類此之例仍多，已分別於編中訂正，今不一一條列。

此外，本編得舊著錄之助者，亦不下十數條，如對父乙卣，京都大學人文科學研究所藏資料卡（京拓 K.2351）僅錄蓋銘，三代 13.27–28則蓋、器全，今由三代得以補足。又農卣，蘇氏56僅得器銘，而小校 4.64.3 多錄蓋銘三字，今取小校補其缺。他如雖有手拓本或摹本，然能於舊著錄中求得更佳之拓本者，則輒爲更易，如：

殷𣪘盤(二)，19字，摹自京拓K.1415，今借用三代 17.12.2著錄拓本。

頌𣪘(二)器銘 152 字，美國耶魯大學美術館 Yale University Art Gallery (Yale)藏器，今因手拓本上墨不足，故以小校 8.97.1–2代之。

叁、增收未見著錄之銘文

流散於國外博物館之藏品，而又從未見於著錄者，本編多已收錄如：

①陳侯簠，蓋、器各26字，加拿大皇家安大略博物館藏器(ROM: NB 4104 ）可取與三代10.20.3–4陳侯簠互參。

②作冊𠕘尊，26字，現藏英國雅士莫理博物館 Ashmolean Museum, Oxford (Ashmolean: 1965.835)

③兮中鐘，26字，現藏美國帝揚博物館　Brundage: B60.B180

④大師小子匜，25字，現藏美國明尼奧普里士美術館Pillsbury Collection, Minneapolis Institute of Arts, (Pillsbury: 50.46.35)

⑤䰞鼎，28字，現藏美國帝揚博物館

⑥𠂤䣊，30字，現藏美國明尼奧普里士美術館

本編既廣采博蒐，故亦收有若干僞器，如：

①𤔲鐘，66字，現藏法國基美博物館

②虢叔旅鐘，20字，現藏美國福格博物館

③太宰歸父鐳，24字，日本寧樂美術館藏器(京拓：K.10161，器形見寧樂譜21著錄。)

④單伯鼎，102字，日本住友博物館藏器。

⑤令鼎，71字，原拓本，一九五三年巴納購於日本東京。

⑥陶叔之孫鐘，28字，曾藏日本東京某氏 (P.C., Tokyo)

此皆易辨者；其餘尚多，不煩盡舉。僞器而仍入錄者，蓋本乎「眞者

固多見而知其美，僞者亦多見而知其惡，不必棄之。」(簠齋尺牘冊九壽卿復伯寅筆札）僞銘多由眞銘孳生，僞者不辨又何以知眞之可貴？況此類銘文泰半未曾見於著錄乎？

肆、訂諸家著錄目之誤

本編著錄目之編列，雖主要得助於福開森歷代著錄吉金目、林巳奈夫三代吉金文字器影參照目錄、白川靜金文通釋等，然於每器之著錄，例必逐一檢核。王國維於國朝金文著錄表序中嘗稱：「墨本堆積或一器而數名，或一文而數器，其間比勘一器，往往檢書至十餘種，閱拓本至若干冊，窮日之力，僅能盡數十器而已。」此乃編列吉金目者之最佳寫照。經比勘後，乃悉各家著錄目，頗有可商處。茲分別列舉如次：

（甲）福開森歷代著錄吉金目成於三十年前，其書於每目之下，具列諸家著錄情形。凡一家著錄同器有二件者，則注明器二，且泰半附以原書注文。此於諸器之舊藏情況可以一目了然。惜間有斷章取義，致擾人耳目者，如葉五七一大宰邍父敦條引兩錄云：「器刻款，蓋銘僞鑄。」今檢原書注文，則爲「此刻款（指器銘)，攈古曾著錄，周金文存另列一器，乃仿蓋銘僞鑄。」此則不可不辨者也。又同銘之器有二或兩件以上者，只以一目表之，究竟孰爲器一，孰爲器二，則令人莫辨。如葉五八五衛公叔敦（即賢𣪘）條，由所錄貞補及大系注文，知同銘之器凡三，惟如不通檢諸家著錄，則難知三器所分屬。至如本編所輯之賢𣪘，乃係三器外之別一器，而未爲福氏所收者，該器最早見於善齋 7.49 著錄，現藏故宮，容庚於通考中嘗定爲僞刻。惟福氏著錄目雖未盡善，然如檢查小校 (1935) 以前諸家著錄，仍不失爲一極具價值之工具書。

（乙）林巳奈夫三代吉金文存器影參照目錄成於一九六七年，有一九七一年台北學生書局再版本，如欲參校三代與小校兩書之異同，及三代著錄之器物，得此一書，即無庸他求，惜抄手亦偶有誤處，如：

①三代 8.28.3 賢𣪘(一)條下，以爲即故宮下下 164 所著錄者，實誤。

②三代 9.12.1 白懋父𣪘(二)乃蓋銘，該條下漏列故宮下下 171 及善器 70（器）兩家著錄。

③三代 7.13.1 白𣪘條下，以尊古 2.1 與小校 7.67.6 並列，經查小校著錄與三代異范，原器現藏澳洲墨爾鉢國立維多利亞藝術館 National Gallery of Victoria, Melbourne (NGV: 1735.3)

④三代 1.65宗周鐘條下錄小校 1.94，然小校著錄實爲僞銘，與三代異范，原器現藏美國帝揚博物館

此例甚多，他日擬全部集錄，俾請正於林先生。

（丙）白川靜金文通釋一書，撰始於一九六二年而完成於一九七五年，是書能熔新舊材料於一爐，且於每器之下分列時代、收藏、著錄各項，條理分明，讀者便之。惜著錄一項，亦間有可商，如.

①　34.200　虢文公子𣪘鼎條，頁七二蘇公子癸父甲𣪘項下列有二器，而於第二器誤引小校 8.16。按：小校 8.16著錄者，實爲第一器。

②　27.158　函皇父鼎條，頁四〇九函皇父𣪘器一，所引小校 8.38當爲 8.39.1 之誤；器二所引小校 8.39，則應爲 8.39.2 。

③8.42 作冊大方鼎條著錄四器，器（一）下誤以貞松 3.25 爲3.26.1，又所錄小校 3.13實爲 3.14.1 之誤。器（二）則誤以貞松 3.26.1 作 3.25.2 。器（三）所錄小校 3.14條，則應移於器（一）之下。器（四）乃美國赫美地基金會 Hermitage Foundation, Norfolk, Va. 藏器，通釋於收藏條下漏列。斷代 3.49 稱「1941年在昆明桃園接獲第四器拓本。」或即指此器而言。今本編已將四幅拓本並列，讀者可自校其異同。

上述諸點，皆其偶疏處。其他可商者尚多，兹不具舉。

伍、新輯編年式著錄簡目

本編鑑於舊著錄目之缺失，因於著錄簡目之編列，務求翔實。除每器必翻檢原書查證外，並於每一著錄之後，加注其書之序跋及成書或出版年次，復以編年方式次第錄列；若蓋、器全而某家著錄僅錄其蓋或器銘者，則分別於其著錄之後，以 l(蓋)、v(器)字樣表示之；又如某家著錄附有器形者，則於其著錄之後加「*」號以爲識別。如頌𣪘（一)，原器現藏美國納爾遜藝術館，簡目則列作如下之形式：

壹、取材準則

本編雖顏曰所見所拓所摹，而編中於未見之拓本亦入錄者，蓋以其拓本罕見著錄，或其舊著錄之書業已絕版，不易購得之故。如帝室博物館鑑賞錄、歐米蒐儲支那古銅精華、日本蒐儲支那古銅精華諸書俱已絕版多年，因本求全之旨，凡知見者，俱入本編；又上海博物館藏青銅器一書，亦已售罄多時，故其著錄之器，今亦全部入錄。玆悉去年台北已有翻印本，題曰古代青銅器彙編（一）。爲免使全盤計劃更動，故本編未予剔除。至於余等所見故宮陳列諸器愈千，而未全部入錄者，蓋故宮藏器凡巴納博士曾目驗者，多存手拓本及購本，今亦僅以其自存拓本入錄故也。

貳、採錄方式

本編所錄如有二或二器以上，器形、銘文內容及字數相同，或僅一、二字之差者，多歸併錄列，如頌鼎（一）151字，頌鼎（二）150字是。又有雖未曾目驗，或非編者所得拓本，亦爲査驗方便而併列之。如追毁，舊著錄中，以蓋、器合計，僅及四銘，今經蒐集校理，共得銘文六篇，即：

通 釋 (1969) 24.137 (p.168)

以編年方式著錄，於諸器流傳之緒，極有助益。蓋序跋或成書年月，往往早於其書刊行之時。如淸儀閣所藏古器物文一書成於一八四八前後，而其刊行則遲至一九二五，因而見於淸儀著錄諸器拓本之傳世時間，當以一八四八前後爲準。此外，對僞器出現時間之判別，亦可資參證。如邾公華鐘(二),金匱（1952）著錄，行款與現藏上海博物館之邾公華鐘（一）異。而積古（1804）於周公華鐘條下注云：「銘文首一行末一行，據原本分作兩行。」與鐘（二）情形相合，且部分於積古出現並經誤摹之字形亦一一見於鐘（二），因得論定鐘（二）確爲贋品，且所據藍本當係積古，而其出現亦必在積古（1804）以後。〔參拙著僞作先秦彝器銘文疏要，葉三〇三邾公華鐘（二）條。〕

此種著錄方式，雖云首創，然松丸道雄氏於一九六八年曾製成一著錄简表（未發表，僅供研究用），實已啓其端。特爲揭出，以示不敢掠美。惟今所列著錄細目，亦僅粗具規模而已，至如弘齋藏三代吉金文字、話籀診吉金彝器款識、東卿手拓金文、秦詔量瓦集錦（著錄金文拓本十餘紙）諸書，以及中央研究院歷史語言研究所所藏舊拓綜合篇二十八巨帙（計收原拓一千餘葉）、善齋藏全形拓本一百六十餘軸、李玄伯舊藏冊葉舊拓八冊（計收原拓三四三葉）及散葉拓本二十五封（三十餘器）、中央圖書館藏全形拓本散葉六七七封（六百九十餘器）等，俱係鮮爲人知者。余雖有幸目驗一過，然以遠隔重洋，無法取以對校。玆僅就昔日筆記所得，偶錄一二。至若非專以拓本或摹本著錄，而只屬考釋及單篇論文者，則暫不錄列，如古文審、商周彝器通考、西周銅器斷代等是也。凡此，將於考釋中詳列之。

本編內容，畧如上述，至若編輯體例，巴納博士於其英文序中，叙述甚詳，於此無庸具述。惟下列數事，尚須加以說明。

本編之輯，以余與巴納博士職司不同，故中、英文序言，互有詳略。考釋亦分由余二人以中、英文撰寫，惟遇有彼此意見相左者，則兩說互存，以備方家教正。

通 釋 (1968) 20.113

其中第四器拓本乃得自日本主辦之中國「古代青銅器展」目錄(1976)而予以放大者。他如陳逆簠八器，作册大方鼎四器皆然。惟亦有字數相差十餘字而仍歸併錄列者，如者沔編鐘（一）至（十三）是，蓋以此套編鐘既屬同一人所作器，又係首次全數見於同一著錄故也。惟因礙於篇幅，雖知有同銘者多器而未歸併錄列者仍多，如頌毁，傳世蓋器銘文合共十二篇（參拙著僞作先秦彝器銘文疏要史頌毁條，葉三六一至三七三），今只錄其三器（蓋、器銘文共五篇）；又大鼎，傳世有三器（合僞器一，則共四器），今只錄其一。若此類者，將於考釋卷中詳述之。

叁、分類依據

彙錄諸器，係以器類分列，而以字數多寡爲序；器類之編次，以容庚、張維持通論所訂分類法爲本，並以本編實際所收器物內容分類如下：

鼎、鬲、甗、毁、簠、盨、敦、爵、角、斝、盉、尊、觥、方彝、彝、卣、罍、壺、鋗、缶、鐪、觚、觶、盤、匜、鑑、盂、釜、鉦、鐘、鐸、兵器、雜器。

所收銘文，由五五〇字至一字；圖騰、族號或其下所繫銘文不成文句者，則另作分類排比，獨立成冊。字數之計算，採傳統方式，即重文亦作一字計。圖騰或族號則只當作一字，如舊釋「析子孫」者，今只作爲一字。然以銘文殘泐，計字或有出入，容有相差一、二字者，因於卷末附列器名、器類及字數等索引數種，俾資參考。

LIST OF COLLECTIONS

Inscriptions recorded in the present survey derive from inscribed bronze vessels, weapons, and other artifacts which, at the time of examination, were known to be located in certain public, or private, Collections. This information is reported alongside each inscription reproduction in an abbreviated form. Asterisks indicate that there is a practically complete coverage.

LIST OF CATALOGUES CITED

It will be appreciated by specialists in this field that not all available Catalogues have been incorporated in the compilation of the Bibliographical Lists. Many articles, too, are by-passed. As stated earlier a more extensive presentation of bibliographical sources is reserved for the Commentary Volumes. This situation requires the statement: 未見著錄 which might literally be taken to imply that the inscription in question has "not been published (anywhere)", to be clarified. If the inscription has not been found reproduced in any of the sources listed hereunder, then we use this phrase to denote the fact. A large proportion of the 未見著錄 inscriptions, it seems certain enough, will be found published for the first time in the present survey. In cases where the vessel-type is unknown, and the inscription is apparently not reproduced in the sources listed below, the statement: 著錄待查 is recorded.

A. Western Catalogues

Those of direct relevance to the present survey only are listed hereunder, i.e. publications with both the inscriptions and the parent vessels reproduced. No attempt is made to collate illustrations of inscribed vessels in publications wherein the artifacts are not reproduced with their inscriptions. A few articles have been cited in the Bibliographical Lists but generally such relevant articles will be dealt with extensively in the Commentary Volumes. During his forthcoming field-trip to Europe, America, and the Far East, Dr Cheung will be assembling further materials from Collections which I have not yet examined and augmenting our Archives of inscription data. Collections noted hereunder which are incompletely represented in the present survey, will be better, if not fully, covered in the projected "hsü-pien". It is expected, too, that up-dating of ownership information will also result.

1. Barnard, Noel — Archaic Chinese Bronzes in Australian and New Zealand Collections, National Gallery of Victoria, Melbourne, 1975. [abb. Archaic] — Archaic* (1975)

   Inscription rubbings of all known pre-Han inscribed bronzes in Australasian Collections are incorporated in the present survey. Accordingly, this small Exhibition handbook is useful as a source of illustrations of the vessels, and of some of the inscriptions.

2. Brinker, Helmut — Bronzen aus dem alten China, Museum Rietberg, Zurich, Switzerland, 1975. [abb. Brinker] — Brinker* (1975)

   The majority of the inscriptions, presented either as drawings or as photographs of the inscription areas – all to natural size, will be found incorporated in the present survey. A few, however, will not appear until the "continuation volume" is published.

3. Ecke, Gustav — Frühe Chinesische Bronzen aus der Sammlung Oskar Trautmann, Peking, 1939. [abb. Trautmann] — Trautmann* (1939)

   All inscriptions in this very rare Catalogue appear in the present survey–those of which I have as yet no original rubbings are reproduced either from the rubbings in Dr. Ecke's book, or from other rubbings in other Catalogues.

4. Hansford, S.H. — The Seligman Collection of Oriental Art, Vol. 1, London, 1957 [abb. Seligman] — Seligman (1957)

   Unfortunately the inscriptions are presented only in the form of hand-copies. I have re-drawn those which cannot be conveniently substituted by available published rubbings in other sources. All pre-Han inscriptions reported in this volume are incorporated in the present survey.

5. van Heusden, W. — Ancient Chinese Bronzes of the Shang and Chou Dynasties, Privately printed Tokyo, 1952, Otsuka Kogeisha Ltd., and Kenkyusha Printing Coy. Ltd. [abb. van Heusden] — van Heusden* (1952)

   This well known Collection has been broken up and individual pieces are scattered amongst other Collections. All but a few of the smaller inscriptions are in my files. The latter have been added to the present survey resulting thus in a complete coverage of the former van Heusden inscribed bronzes.

6. Karlgren, Bernhard — "Bronzes in the Hellstrom Collection" BMFEA 20, 1948. — Karlgren* (1948)

7. "Some bronzes in the Museum of Far Eastern Antiquities", BMFEA 21, 1949. — Karlgren* (1949)

   These two surveys usefully indicate the scope of the MFEA collection of ritual vessels. Unfortunately, only a few of the inscriptions have been reproduced in these articles. However, several references to rubbings published in other Catalogues makes it possible to incorporate in the present survey rubbings of some of the more important items. Most such rubbings will appear in the "continuation volume" wherein we hope to cover the MFEA inscribed pieces fairly exhaustively.

8. A Catalogue of the Chinese Bronzes in the Alfred F. Pillsbury Collection, Minneapolis Institute of Arts, 1952. [abb. Pillsbury] — Pillsbury* (1952)

   Reproductions of the inscriptions of this important Collection in the above Catalogue are both poor in quality and reduced far too much in scale. In the present survey all inscribed bronzes in the Minneapolis Institute of Arts (the majority comprising the Pillsbury Collection) are reproduced from rubbings made by my hand in 1961.

9. "Bronzes in the Wessén Collection", BMFEA 30, 1958. — Karlgren* (1958)

   Several of these I have in the form of original rubbings in my files. Of the others as reproduced in the above article, and also in item 10 below, I have made hand-copies which are incorporated in the present survey so as to cover this Collection as fully as possible.

10. Karlgren, Bernhard & Jan Wirgen — Chinese Bronzes – the Natanael Wessén Collection, MFEA Monograph Series, Vol. 1, Stockholm 1969. [abb. Wessén] — Wessén* (1969)

    Items in addition to those in 9, above, have been incorporated in the present survey as hand-copies based on the photographs of the inscription areas where we have not been able conveniently to us earlier published rubbings.

11. Kelley, C.F. & Ch'en Meng-chia — Chinese Bronzes from the Buckingham Collection, The Art Institute of Chicago, 1946. [abb. Buckingham] — Buckingham* (1946)

    Again the inscription rubbings are far too small for research purposes. All the Buckingham inscribed bronzes reproduced in the present survey derive from rubbings made by my hand (1961) and at that time as many of the late Avery Brundage's bronzes were lodged in the Art Institute of Chicago, I was thus working concurrently on the two Collections.

12. Kidder, Jr., J. Edward — Early Chinese Bronzes in the City Art Museum of St. Louis, Washington University, St. Louis, 1956. [abb. Kidder] — Kidder* (1956)

    All but a few of the inscribed pieces in the above Catalogue reproduced in the present survey derive from rubbings made by my hand (1961).

13. Leth, André — Catalogue of Selected Objects of Chinese Art in the Museum of Decorative Arts, Copenhagen, Copenhagen, 1950. [abb. Leth] — Leth* (1959)

    The inscribed items recorded in this Catalogue are all reproduced in the present survey.

14. Lodge, Wenley and Pope — A Descriptive and Illustrative Catalogue of Chinese Bronzes. Smithsonian Institution, Freer Gallery of Art, Oriental Series, No. 3, Washington, 1946. — (–)

    This excellent Catalogue of the best items in the FGA Collection has most of the inscribed pieces covered in the later Catalogue (see item 17). Accordingly, reference is made to the Plates in the later Catalogue only.

15. Loo & Co., C.T. — An Exhibition of Ancient Chinese Ritual Bronzes Loaned by C.T. Loo & Co., Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit, 1940. [abb. C.T. Loo (1940)] — C.T. Loo* (1940)

    Rubbings of nearly all the inscribed items in this Catalogue have entered my files and all are reproduced in the present survey.

16. Palmgren, Nils — Selected Antiquities from the Collection of Gustav Adolf, Crown Prince of Sweden, Stockholm, 1948. [abb. Palmgren] — Palmgren* (1948)

17. Pope, J.A., R.J. Gettens, J. Cahill, and N. Barnard — The Freer Chinese Bronzes, Vol. 1, Smithsonian Institution Freer Gallery of Art Oriental Studies No. 7, Washington D.C., 1967 [abb. Freer] — Freer* (1967)

    Rubbings by my own hand of all the inscribed bronzes in this famous Collection were made in 1961. As a few of these were not incorporated in the above publication, the coverage in the present survey is practically complete. The rubbings as reproduced in the above Catalogue are sometimes correct in scale and sometimes considerably reduced in size.

18. Sullivan, Michael — Chinese Ceramics, Bronzes and Jades in the Collection of Sir Alan and Lady Barlow, London, Faber and Faber, 1963 [abb. Barlow] — Barlow* (1963)

    Hand-copies of the inscriptions only are given and scales are of uncertain regularity. Where possible published rubbings are reproduced in the present survey, otherwise my re-drawings of the inscriptions appear.

19. T'chou To-yi & Pelliot, P. — Bronzes Antiques de la Chine Appartenant à C.T. Loo et Cie. Paris et Bruxelles, Libraire Nationale d'Art et d'Histoire, 1924. [abb. C.T. Loo] — C.T. Loo* (1924)

    A few of the inscriptions in this book have been directly photographed for inclusion in the present survey. As the book is fairly rare the coverage here has accordingly been made complete.

20. Visser, H.F.E. — Asiatic Art in Private Collections of Holland and Belgium, De Spieghel Publishing Coy., Amsterdam, 1948. [abb. Visser] — Visser* (1948)

    Rubbings of several of the inscribed vessels not already in my files have been photographed directly, or hand-copied, for inclusion in the present survey thus making the coverage here complete so far as these materials are reported in the above Catalogue.

21. White, William Charles — Bronze Culture of Ancient China, University of Toronto Press, Museum Studies – Number Five, 1956 [abb. White] — White* (1956)

    Many inscribed pieces in the ROM Collection do not appear in this useful survey – and the nature of Bishop White's approach is such that only the relevant inscribed items should appear. Practically all the bronzes in the ROM Collection were examined by me in 1961 and rubbings of the inscriptions were made by my hand. These are all incorporated in the present survey thus resulting in a practically complete coverage.

22. Tombs of Old Lo-yang, Kelly and Walsh, Shanghai, 1934 [abb. White (1934)] — White* (1934)

    Original rubbings of all the inscribed pieces described and illustrated in this rare work have entered my files – most are, of course, in the ROM Collection.

23. Yetts, W.P.	The Cull Chinese Bronzes, Courtauld Institute of Art, University of London,. 1939 [abb. Cull]	Cull* (1939)

This Collection has apparently been dispersed. Where original rubbings are lacking in my files, reproductions of Professor Yetts' hand-copies have been added to make the coverage of the original Cull inscribed pieces complete.

24.	The George Eumorfopoulos Collection: Catalogue of the Chinese and Korean bronzes, sculpture, jade, jewellery, and miscellaneous objects. 3 vols., Ernest Benn Ltd., Bouverie House, London, 1929-32. [abb. Eumorfopoulos]	Eumorfopoulos* (1929)

The more important inscribed pre-Han bronzes are represented here; those omitted should appear in the "continuation volume" as a result of Dr Cheung's forthcoming research trip.

B. Chinese and Japanese Catalogues

In the majority of cases dates of publication are given but there are a number of Catalogues which had been assembled ready for printing long before the actual publication date. In such instances, compilation date is recorded in the Bibliographical Lists in preference to the later publication dated, e.g. Chün-ku (1850+)–but not published until 1895, Ching-wu (1854)–published 1908, etc. In each list the Catalogues are accordingly entered in chronological order.

1. Ch'ien Tien 錢 坫	Shih-liu-ch'ang-t'ang ku-ch'i k'uan-chih k'ao 十六長樂堂古器欵識考，民國廿二年，開明書局翻刻本, 1933. [abb. Shih-liu]	十 六*(1796)
2. Chu Shan-ch'i 朱善旂	Ching-wu-hsin-shih yi-ch'i k'uan-chih 敬吾心室彝器款識. 姪朱之榛石印本, 1908. [abb. Ching-wu]	敬 吾 (1854+)
3. Fang Chün-yi 方濬益	Chui-yi-chai yi-ch'i k'uan-chih k'ao-shih 綴遺齋彝器款識攷釋. 上海涵芬樓用手稿本景印. Shanghai, 1935. [abb. Chui-yi]	綴 遺 (1894)
4. Hamada Ryusaku 濱田耕作	Senoku seishō 泉屋清賞，京都，大正八年. 1919. [abb. Senoku, or Sumitomo]	泉 屋*(1919)

It is a matter of considerable regret to scholars in our field that regulations governing the Sumitomo Collection do not permit rubbings to be made. Consequently, one has to make do with the earlier published reproductions, which in the last volume of the above, leave much to be desired in terms of clarity. I have made a point of adding to such original rubbings I have in my collection from vessels now in the Sumitomo Collection, all others known to be in this famous Collection. The present survey accordingly may be claimed to contain the most comprehensive record of inscriptions on bronzes in the Senoku seishō yet published.

As many of the inscribed vessels in Ōka, and the later published companion Catalogue, Nichika, have already entered the pages of the present survey through various other avenues, the comparatively few remaining inscribed items in these two Catalogues have also been incorporated as a matter of general convenience. Thus all inscriptions in Ōka and Nichika will be found in the following pages.

To this beautifully printed book may also be added notice of the well known set of reproductions of rubbings (equally well printed) which until a few years ago, were readily available in most left-wing bookshops. I have used these materials to supplement the original rubbings in my collection which cover Shanghai Museum holdings. As a result the present survey incorporates all the inscriptions recorded in the above Catalogue as well as a few others known to be in the Museum.

C. Collections of Rubbings

1. Archives of the Department of Archaeology, Jimbun Kagakukenkyūjo, Kyoto University, Kyoto. [abb. Kyōtoku] — 京 拓 (1900)

Materials reproduced in the present survey deriving from the Kyoto archives comprise (a) 35 mm negative copies of inscription rubbings photographed by me during the period 1957-1959, and (b) hand-copies made with reference to the same, and other original rubbings or photographs of the inscription areas recorded in the files. This latter work was conducted during the years 1971-1974 in Kyoto, and partly in Tokyo (1976) where a Xerox copy of the Kyoto archives (bronze inscription sections only) is available. It was noted during this brief visit in 1976 that my earlier negatives record rubbings in the Kyoto archives which have since disappeared, the files having been mislaid, or lost. Accordingly, the 35 mm negative copies have a special documentary value. It has not been possible to substitute rubbings for all the hand-copies made from the Kyoto archives, thus the reader's attention is directed to Figures 1 and 2 in my Introduction for an assessment of the degree of reliability attending the hand-copies.

Data in the Kyoto archives of major importance to a survey such as the present comprises not only the many hitherto unpublished inscriptions long interred in the files but also the convenient records entered in the files relating to ownership data and the date of the entry. Sometimes, however, dates of examination were not recorded. In such instances the time of the examination (viz. the presence of the artifact in question in Japan) is simply assessed from nearby files containing examination dates–if the assessment should be incorrect, it would generally be only a year or so out. Other information of special value is to be noted in the usually excellent photographs of the bronzes and of details in the bronze artifacts.

2. A Collection of Rubbings. No title, no date or other bibliographical data is recorded. — 蘇 氏 (1900-?)

A collection of original rubbings purchased in Tokyo, 1953-54, which are mounted in an old, well-thumbed, brown-paper scrap-book-like volume of appreciable age. Commentaries on four of the rubbings have the dates 1852, 1874, and 1885 recorded, while the seal of Wu Ta-ch'eng 吳大澂 (1935-1902) is impressed on many of the rubbings. The overall date of the compilation – by a Mr Su whose seal appears on nearly all the rubbings – is probably not later than 1900. In reproducing these rubbings (106 items, and excluding 18 mirrors of Han and later periods), those with commentaries and modern character transcriptions alongside the rubbings are presented in full.

Kōzaisō sandai kikkin moji 弘齋藏三代吉金文字, 三十二冊, 32 vols., Kyoto. — 弘 齋 (1950-)

A fine collection of original rubbings amongst which many bear the seal of Ch'en Kan 陳 乾 [肇一] thus suggesting that the rubbings were originally his. Kōzai is the hao of the late Professor Naitō Torajirō 内藤虎次郎 into whose possession the rubbings came sometime after 1899 when his library was destroyed by fire. The mounting and the newness of the 32 volumes and the eight han in which they are kept is obviously of quite recent manufacture (I first saw the Collection in 1953). In the present survey the date: (1950-) may well be ultra cautious, and a more exhaustive investigation into the back-ground of the compilation may result in some revision of this (cf. Dr Cheung's appraisal in his study of pre-Ch'in forgeries, 1975:207). Some further details appear above in note 9 (p. 7). Only a few rubbings from this interesting collection have been reproduced here. It would be a good service to students in our field to have a facsimile edition published.

Kuo-li chung-yang t'u-shu-kuan ts'ang chin-wen ch'üan-hsing t'o-p'ien 國立中央圖書館藏金文全形拓片, Nos. 4001-4677. A collection of more than 600 "composite rubbings" in the National Central Library, Taipei. — 中 央 (1974)

More than half of the rubbings (both vessel and inscription) were made by Chou Hsi-ting 周希丁, a highly esteemed specialist in this difficult form of vessel representation. Inscribed vessels in this collection were originally in the possession of various well known collector/scholars such as Lo Ch'en-yü, Ch'en Chieh-ch'i, Wu Ta-ch'eng, Juan Yüan, Liu T'i-chih, etc. A full inventory of the contents of this valuable collection of original rubbings together with notes on the colophons, seals, etc. has been compiled by Dr Cheung. As the task was undertaken in 1974, this date is employed in the code reference to these materials. The range of dates so far as they can be ascertained from internal evidence (data in the titles, colophons, seals, etc.) is far too wide for the general purpose of indicating the approximate earliest date of appearance of the bronzes. Each has to be considered individually as will be done in the Commentary Volumes. A selection of 20 or more items is reproduced in full in the present survey and a number of hand-copies made by me during my study of the collection in 1975 is also included. Most of the materials selected have a special interest and in many cases appear here for the first time in publication. The collection is particularly important because of its pictorial representation of many parent vessels (incorporating directly made rubbings of the decor) of published inscriptions–illustrations of these vessels and their décor are not otherwise available.

5. Shih-yü-sho t'sang-chiu t'o-pen ts'e-yeh tsung-ho p'ien 史語所藏舊拓册頁綜合編. A Collection of old rubbings in 28 volumes which once belonged to Li Hsüan-po 李玄伯 lodged in the Fu Ssu-nien Library, Institute of History and Philology, Academia Sinica, Nan-kang. A further collection in smaller format comprising eight volumes of rubbings was also formerly in the possession of Li Hsüan-po. It is untitled. — 綜 合 (1975+)

More than one thousand inscriptions are in this collection (28 volumes in large format) which was apparently either purchased, or assembled, by Li Hsüan-po. Dr Cheung has made a comprehensive list of the rubbings (1974) noting the content of colophons, seals, etc. Further research by Dr Cheung and myself is presently (1977-1978) in progress as there is a considerable corpus of valuable data yet to be studied. Only a small but by no means insignificant representation of this important source appears in the present survey: the Hsiao Yü Ting (probably the only extant rubbing of this lost vessel), the two additional San Shih P'an inscriptions, and one of the finest rubbings of the Mao Kung Ting we have seen. The small format eight volume collection of rubbings totalling over 300 items does not figure in the present survey as most of the inscriptions are well published. Reference is made only to the large format collection, and a selection of some 30 rubbings have been reproduced here.

6. Shih-yü-sho ts'ang ch'üan-hsing t'o-pen chü-an-chou 史語所藏全形拓本卷軸(善齋舊藏). A collection of scrolls containing "composite rubbings" formerly in the possession of Liu T'i-chih — 善 字 (1867+)

A selection of 160 items only (Nos. 186755-186914; note the last 15 of these are not Shan-chai items) have been listed by Dr Cheung (1974) with detailed notes on colophons, seals, etc. Further study of this valuable Collection by both Dr Cheung and myself is in progress (1977-1978). Reproductions of 10 rubbings appear in the present survey.

BRONZE CATALOGUES

Practically all the major published sources of bronze inscriptions (and the parent vessels) are incorporated in the list opposite – several unpublished collections of original rubbings known to us are also included. There are, of course, many articles, archaeological reports, museum hand-books, etc. which contain reproductions of inscriptions. These we plan to record as fully as possible in the Commentary Volumes along with the relevant inscription studies.

The list opposite is based upon a tentative version prepared by Professor Matsumaru Michio 松丸道雄 some years ago while working with me on the major project "Archaeological Documents of Ancient China". It has been updated and revised where necessary but still should be regarded as tentative in that several very recently published Catalogues should be incorporated (but technically difficult to insert at this late stage) and a number of important collections of original rubbings which have only just come to our attention must later be included in proper chronological order. Meantime, however, it should serve a useful purpose to students in our field.

A major point to be noted is the chronological order wherein dates of compilation are given precedence over dates of publication. Both naturally are listed; the former, however, is important in its indication of the often earliest evidence of particular inscribed bronzes. For convenience, the nature of each source is indicated, i.e. whether illustrated with the vessels as well as the inscriptions, and commentaries. The nature of the illustrations (line-drawings. composite rubbings, or photographs), the inscriptions (hand-copies, rubbings, or photographs), and the commentaries (notes only, transcriptions in modern characters with minimal notes, or full scale studies) are recorded in the last column.

Abbreviated titles in characters and in romanization accord with those in general use, although some slight variations have been found necessary. Under "Western Catalogues" several articles in the BMFEA have been included but such sources are still to be more exhaustively listed later.

The main divisions: "Sung Catalogues", "Early Ch'ing Catalogues", "Late Ch'ing Catalogues", and "Recent Catalogues" (which would also include "Western Catalogues"), together with the listing of inscription sources into a chronological order, follows the approaches established in several my earlier inscription studies. Generally, the division between Ch'ing and Recent Catalogues is that of hand-copy (or, wood-block print) and the photo-mechanical printing of actual rubbings. An overlap interval of about a decade forms the dividing line between the two Catalogue eras.

A preliminary listing of the contents has been made by Dr Cheung (1974) and further study is presently in progress. Reference is made to several items in the present survey.

8. Ch'en-kan ts'ang chi-chin wen-tzu 陳乾藏吉金文字，一册. A landscape scene by 俞雲 Yü Yün dated 1919 (己未) follows the inner title page; the latter reads 古文大觀 Ku-wen ta-kuan. — 陳 乾 (1919-)

Only a few rubbings are incorporated in this large format book. One only, the 毛公鼎（二）– Mao Kung Ting No. 2, is of particular interest and is reproduced in our survey. It has been studied exhaustively by Dr Cheung who was first to recognise the existence of this, and of the third Mao Kung Ting. Ch'en Kan's seal (with his hao: 肇一, Chao-yi) appears on many of the rubbings in the Kōzaisō sandai kikkin moji (item 3 above).

9. Original Rubbings in the Collection of Noel Barnard — 巴 納*(19. .)拓本

These rubbings are for the most part those made by my hand during the course of various field-trips. Where photographs of the parent vessels were taken the asterisk appears. Rubbings received as gifts, or by exchange, or recorded on 35mm negatives, are also incorporated under this entry. Amongst the longer inscriptions where my rubbings are reproduced (i.e. those I have made myself) it has not been felt necessary to include record in the Bibliographical Lists unless the date of examination would seem to have some significance or value. Where my rubbing is not really a satisfactory one, an alternative rubbing is reproduced from one of the repertories.

10. Original Rubbings made by Cheung Kwong-yue — 雪 齋*(19. .)拓本

In the projected "continuation volume", it is expected that the majority of rubbings will be accompanied by this entry. The volume will, in effect, be a record of Dr Cheung's field-trip (1978), and should result in making the present survey a truly comprehensive one.

INSCRIPTION IDENTIFICATION NUMBERS AND CODIFICATION OF CLAN-SIGN COMPONENT GRAPHS

Although the system of identification numbers employed in the case of text inscriptions has been described earlier, it would appear to be helpful to illustrate further the method of counting with references to a small selection of examples. The general idea, it will be noted, is simply to assess the number of character-spaces, and as in the case of ins. 4.69 and ins. 6.142 opposite, many text inscriptions will resolve themselves into a fairly regular grid. Counting offers very few problems providing that "combined graphs" such as Fu Kang in ins. 4.69 and graphs with repetition signs are each regarded as a single unit. Fu Yi in ins. 6.142 has, of course, to be taken as two character-spaces although these posthumous titles are generally written in combined form.

Sometimes two characters, not intended to be in combined form may occupy a single character-space (e.g., 23 and 24 in ins. 48.5 opposite). Normally, they would be counted as two characters.

Figure 4 Ins. T 21.4 illustrates the problem that arises when the repetition signs in the tzu-sun phrase are not completely registered.

ins. 4.69

ins. 48.5

ins. 6.142

Figure 3 Ins. 4.69, 48.5, and 6.142 selected to illustrate some of the problems of character, or character-space, counting. Grids drawn alongside and numbered in each space serve to demonstrate the method of character-space counting.

Clan-signs generally are counted as a single graph when they occur in text inscriptions. Where actual characters occur in a clan-sign (e.g., 46, 47 and 48 in ins. 48.5) they may on occasions be counted individually as in the ch'en-ch'en clan-sign series. The use of character-spaces as a basis for counting has a particular value when problems of the kind found in ins. T.21.4 (Figure 4) and ins. 34.12 (Figure 5) occur. In the former, we do not need to worry about the ambiguity attending character 17, tzu, i.e., whether there is a repetition sign there or not. When an inscription is obscured as a result of damage, casting flaws, corrosion, etc., and characters are lost, the text area can often be completely reconstructed in the form of a grid, i.e., in terms of character-spaces, as in ins. 34.12.

As may be observed in these examples, and in many other text inscriptions, a count of characters is not as straightforward a matter as one might expect. However, variant results in a count of character-spaces will tend to be no more than one character-space in error in one direction or the other. Furthermore, once an inscription has been allocated an identification number, there is seldom need to make a re-count—the identification number is intended to represent the inscription for all time.

In the case of clan-sign inscriptions, a form of code is employed. Letters and numerals in appropriate combinations represent the various graphs, or component elements, which may form a clan-sign type inscription. The codification of clan-signs is still in the process of development and it is expected that some revision will be required and, almost certainly, a greater degree of elaboration will be needed in some instances as the many hundreds of clan-sign inscriptions yet to be codified are processed. It may later be found necessary, for example, to sub-divide B-8 graphs into groups of particular kinds of "head-dress"; or some of the items under B-5 may have to be shifted to B-14 (e.g., 𠂤 or 𠃊), or to B-8. So far as possible, changes of the latter kind will be kept to the barest minimum. Likewise, any elaborations found necessary in a general group such as B-8 will be effected so as to disrupt the original code as little as possible, i.e., the code B-8 will still appear as the basic code symbol.

Figure 5 Ins. 34.12 seems originally to have had 33, or 34, character-spaces. The grid demonstrates the situation of the lost characters fairly reliably as may be determined from the context and general layout of the inscription text. For purposes of codification, the total 34, is accepted.

Some clan-signs comprise a rather large viariety of component elements and the code symbol becomes very cumbersome. In such cases a shortened version is desirable, and preliminary attempts to abbreviate the more cumbersome results may be noted throughout the survey.

The main objective is, of course, to establish a method of clan-sign representation which can be used in Western language publications, at least, with minimal inconvenience and low type-setting costs. It is possible that the present system may generally be found suitable but, no doubt, various alternative methods of codification may be suggested. However, it would appear upon examination of the "Index by Clan-sign Component Elements" in the Index Volume, that the present system—which is after all the only one yet contrived—should function reasonable well in the dressing of Tables, and the code representations seem to be fairly easy to memorize when one is actively using them.

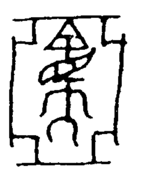

In the following pages, the code symbols are listed together with drawings of one or more versions of the graphs or component elements which each represents. A brief note accompanies each entry and describes the elements alongside in very simple (though not necessarily accurate or acceptable) terms. Identifications of animals, for example, may often be open to question. For many symbols, especially in the V group, no identification is attempted for obvious reasons. The full set of V code symbols is not presented here. Only a few over and above those which appear in clan-sign inscriptions in the present survey are listed. In the hsü-pien, a complete set of identification numbers of text inscriptions and of code symbols for clan-sign inscriptions will appear. Preparation of text inscription identification numbers has recently been completed but work on the clan-sign code symbols is still in progress.

THE CODE SYMBOLS

A -: Denotes the 亞形 ya-hsing and by means of various additional symbols, other graphs with which it may be associated are represented:

1. A-[-]: Ya-hsing on its own (e.g., 亞, ✠, etc.); such cases are rare thus the code: A-[ ] is generally employed for 亞形中 [or, 亞中] 某圖象文字 "a ya-hsing with a symbolic graph inside", e.g.,

(a)  A-[D-10, C-2], a "deer(?) plus hand-grasping object". The "fire" beneath the deer could also be incorporated: R-1, if full representation were required.

(b)  A-[B-8], i.e., with "anthropomorphic figure wearing head-dress(?)" inside—front view.

(c)  A-[B-5], with "anthropomorphic figure wearing head-dress (?)" inside—side view.

2. A-1[-]: 方形 Fang-hsing square- or, rectangular-shaped boundary with symbolic graph inside:

(a)  A-1[H-6], with "sacral vessel" inside.

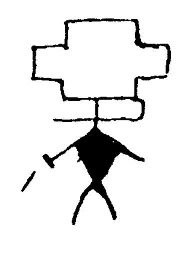

(b)  A-1[D-3], with "dog" inside.

3. A-2: Ya-hsing containing the symbol which is sometimes called: 醜 ch'ou. More than 100 examples have been recorded since Sung times, thus they are given a distinctive code, e.g.

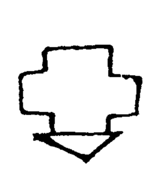

(a)  A-2[J-4] + G-1, i.e., the normal A-2 symbol with "Fu Ting" (J-4) inside. There is an additional graph in the same vessel comprising a "building" (G-1) with three other graphs inside. For general purposes G-1 only will be found sufficient.

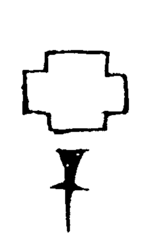

(b)  A-2 + J-4 (v.b): the normal A-2 symbol with "Fu Ting" executed outside (and below). As there are several vessels (or vessel/lid sets) containing the same set of symbols, these are distinguished in the usual manner: (v.a), (v.b), etc.

4. A-3[-]: Ya-hsing in close association with another symbol, usually it is empty and attached directly to the second graph:

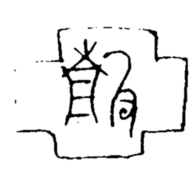

(a)  A-3/B-8: directly attached form: 亞矢 ya-shih

(b)  A-3[J-2] + B-8: unattached form of the normal A-3/B-8 combination When symbols appear inside the ya-hsing, the code should be rendered as A-[J-2]; however, because of the intimate association of the 亞矢 elements the code A-3[ ] is employed.

(c)  A-3/V-54: empty ya-hsing directly attached to another element.

(d)  A-3 + J-8: empty ya-hsing together with a further symbol. If the ya-hsing should contain symbols in such cases as the present the code will be A-[....] + ...

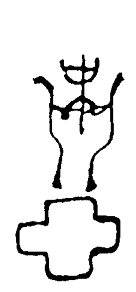

5. A-[....] + ...: This is the usual code employed for ya-hsing combinations (i.e., excluding groups Nos. 3 and 4 above):

(a)  A-[C-2,V-18]: Ya-hsing with "hand-grasping object" and symbol V-18, inside.

(b)  A-[H-1,J-6]: Ya-hsing with "ko-dagger-axe" and "Fu Ting" inside

(c)  A-[V-68] + V-48: Ya-hsing with symbol V-68 inside, and symbol V-48 outside. Contrast with 4(d) above.

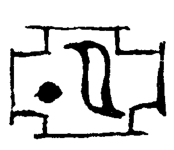

6. .... + A-[....] (or A-3): As a general rule, the presence of a ya-hsing will have priority over all other symbols or graphs whether they appear above, or on the side, of a ya-hsing:

(a)  B-6 + A-3: Above, "two men grasping object; below, a ya-hsing. Code A-3 has priority.

(b)  A-3 + D-3: Left, ya-hsing; right, a "dog". Code A-3 has priority.

(c)  B-9 + A-[B-14]: Left, "T'ien-kuei" symbol (man and tortoise); right ya-hsing with symbol B-14 inside. Code A-[B-14] has priority.

7. A-[...字]: When the ya-hsing contains a text comprising several characters (with or without verb), the code A-[4字], A-[5字], etc., will be used. When only one or two characters are inside the ya-hsing they can be defined, e.g.,

(a)  A-[2字], or A-[L-4, L-2]. The latter code form would seem to be unnecessarily complex for general purposes.

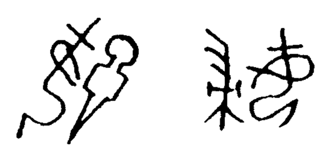

(7)  B-7: Three (or more) men with object between – usually a "flag".

(8)  B-8: Anthropomorphic figure wearing "head-dress"(?) – front view.

(9)  B-9: T'ien-kuei – man and tortoise.

(10)  B-10: Chan-shou – decapitation motif.

(11)  B-11: Woman kneeling – side view.

(12)  B-12: Woman kneeling – side view – with object.

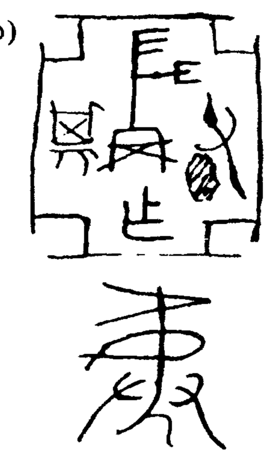

(13)  B-13: Man with animals – usually three animals

(14)  B-14: Three headed man – or man with upraised arms? – front view and side view.

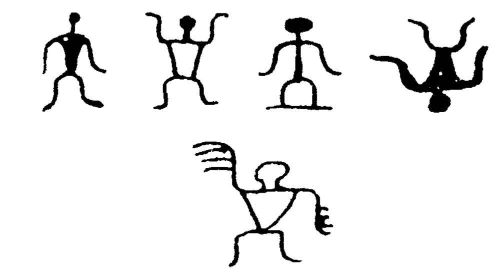

C - Denotes parts of the human body:

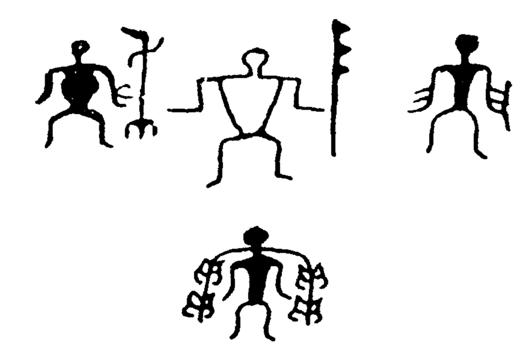

(1)  C-1: Eye – single or a pair of eyes.

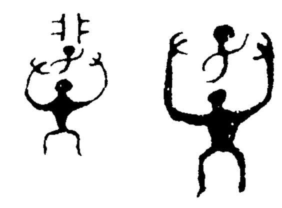

五六～五七

(b)  A-[5字] + 1字: Ya-hsing with five characters inside and one character outside – the whole text almost forms a sentence.

B - Denotes anthropomorphic symbols which may occur individually, or in groups, and in combination with other symbols. Fourteen general types are presently in use:

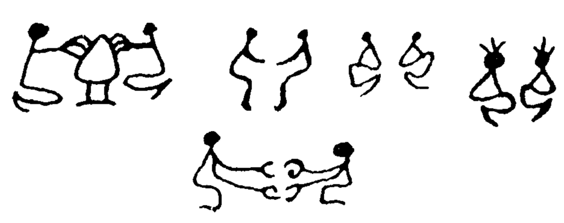

(1)  B-1: Man – full view, and empty-handed.

(2)  B-2: Man – full view, either holding an object or carrying something. The articles carried are not usually defined.

(3)  B-3: hsi-tzu-sun 析子孫: man holding up child. Where one of the elements has been omitted the code: B-3[-] is used.

(4)  B-4: child

(5)  B-5: Man – side view. Empty-handed, or carrying object.

(6)  B-6: Two men face to face, or back to back, kneeling, often with object between. The object is defined in the code rendering.

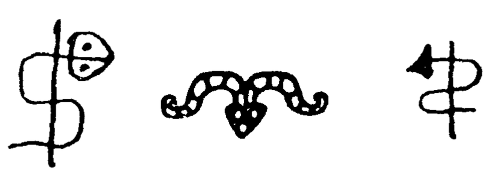

(9)  D-9: Horse

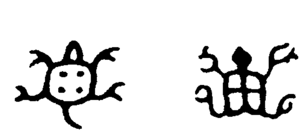

(10)  D-10: Deer

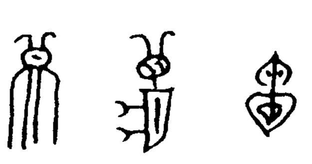

(11)  D-11: Hare, rodent, etc.

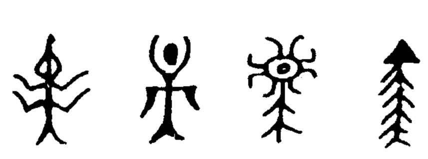

E- Denotes reptiles, insects, etc.,

(1)  E-1: Dragon

(2)  E-2: Snake

(3)  E-3: Tortoise

(4)  E-4: Cicada

(5)  E-5: Insect

(6)  E-6: Scorpion

F - Denotes fish or flora:

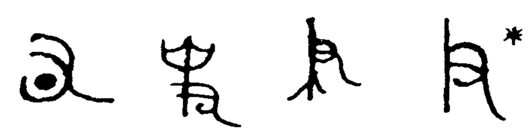

(1)  F-1: Fish

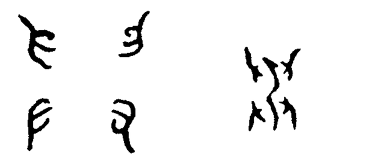

(2) F-2: Cereal

(3) F-3: Tree

五八～五九

(2)  C-2: Hand, hand holding object. Object is defined in code. Version with asterisk is sometimes ambiguous and would appear to be 父 – it has code: C/J.

(3)  C-3: Feet, items associated with feet are defined in the code rendering.

(4)  C-4: Four hands – usually with object between and defined in the code rendering.

(5)  C-5: Ear

(6)  C-6: Joined hands

(7)  C-7: Pair of hands – usually with object between and defined in code rendering.

D - Denotes animals and birds. The identification of animals is often uncertain. Those obviously not sheep, deer, elephants, etc., I usually class as "dogs".

(1)  D-1: Elephant

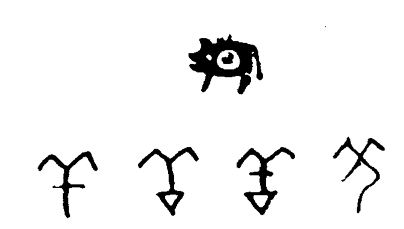

(2)  D-2: Tiger

(3)  D-3: Dog

(4)  D-4: Ox

(5)  D-5: Bat

(6)  D-6: Bird

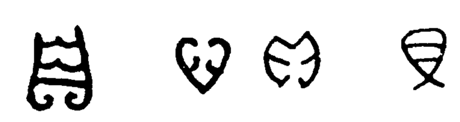

(7) D-7: Pig

(8) D-8: Sheep

(4) F-4:

(5)  F-5: Bud?

(6)  F-6: Grass

(7)  F-7: Cowries

G - Denotes buildings, covers, etc.

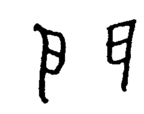

(1)  G-1: Building; with object inside: G-1[. . . .].

(2)  G-2: covers – sometimes inverted; with object inside: G-2[. . . .].

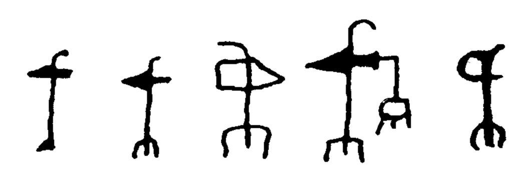

(3)  G-3: Structure; with object inside: G-3[. . . .].

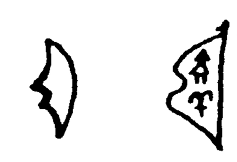

(4) G-4:

(5)  G-5: Half-cover; with object inside: G-5[. . . .].

(6)  G-6: Doors; with object between: G-6[. . . .].

H - Denotes weapons, utensils,

(1)  H-1: ko-dagger-axe, chi-halberd, etc.

(2)  H-2: bow; objects inside: H-2[. . . .].

(3)  H-3: arrows; arrows in quiver

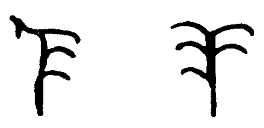

(4)  H-4: shield, with object inside: H-4[. . . .].

(5)  H-5: ko-dagger-axe plus additional objects.

(6)  H-6: sacral vessel

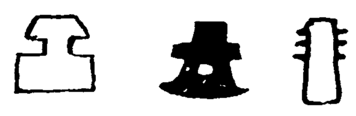

(7)  H-7: knife

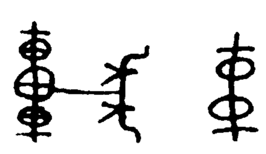

(8)  H-8:

(9)  H-9:

(10)  H-10: banners, flags

(11)  H-11: Inverted ko-dagger-axe

(12)  H-12: axe, halberd

(13)  H-13: chariot

J - 父 fu plus cyclical characters:

P - Denotes particular instances of character combinations combined with symbolic graphs forming a clan-sign:

(1)  (臣辰) P-1: Shen-ch'en combinations.

(2)  (亦) P-2: Yi

Note: In a few instances, such as F-4 and G-4, no graphs appear. This is the result of "last minute" adjustments to the code system. At a later stage new symbols will be assigned to these places, or will be placed at the end of each group and appropriately numbered. Several symbols (e.g. H-8, H-9, etc.) have not been identified as there is a lack of agreement generally as to what they portray.

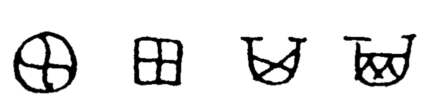

No definitions are given in the V section which follows. Symbols marked by asterisks are present amongst the inscriptions in this survey; unmarked items are to be regarded as tentative until the finalised version of the Code Symbols is published in the Hsü-pien.

THE INDEXES — A NOTE

Although the present survey contains somewhat less than 2,000 inscription texts (and a total of 2,500 individual rubbings and hand-copies), the preparation of a fairly exhaustive set of indexes has been attempted mainly as a kind of "pilot" project — the experience being of special value to us for the projected Archaeological Documents of Ancient China which has been in the course of preparation for some years. To have an assembly of nearly 2,000 inscriptions well indexed is, no doubt, useful but naturally only so far as the processed corpus of data goes. When we eventually complete work on the major survey, indexes along the lines of those in the present volume, should be found of value.

Publication nowadays — in our field at least — increasingly requires author participation in many aspects of type-setting and master-page ("repros") preparation. Accordingly, the making of an index (or, a series of indexes) becomes a great deal more complicated than one might expect. In the present instance, in order to conserve type-setting costs, our publisher elected to use the General Table of Contents as the basic material for setting up the Indexes — the Table of Contents being carefully printed on to good quality glossy paper, then arranged by scissors-and-paste into the versions which appear in the following pages. Where labour costs are low, such an approach has its value. But it does require far more involvement of the author's time and energy than would be the case with normal type-setting and attendant proof-reading. In this connection, however, I should wish to record further my deep appreciation of the very careful and exacting approach to the indexing work by Miss Ma Hsü-fang. This being the last section of the entire project to be completed I feel that special acknowledgement should appear in the present volume. As Dr. Cheung arrived in Taipei (mid July to continue the research programme planned for this part of his field-trip, his presence here has been most helpful — and I have gladly surrendered to him the remaining supervision of the Index Volume preparation, and general consultative aspects of the final stages of printing. However, as most of the organisational work has been my responsibility, any imperfections that may later be found when the Indexes are consulted must accordingly be regarded as my responsibility.

Noel Barnard,
Taipei, July, 1978.

INDEX BY CHARACTERS – RADICALS/CHARACTER STROKE

The arrangement for "normal" characters is straightforward. Where direct transcriptions have been used (e.g. [illegible], [illegible], [illegible], etc.) an appropriate element is selected to function as the radical – either the most obvious or the most convenient. When the archaic form only is given (e.g. [illegible], [illegible], [illegible], etc.), and this character appears first in a vessel-name, the entries are grouped together at the end of the radical/character-stroke list (p. 32). Characters which cannot be acceptably identified and appear first in the vessel-name, are denoted by a square in the Chinese text, and by an X in the romanised version. These, too, are grouped together and are located after the preceding section (see p. 35) Each entry is presented in the order: characters, romanised vessel-name, inscription identification number, rubbing number, and page number.

Clan-sign type inscriptions (those in Volumes 7 and 8) are placed apart from the text inscriptions – this division seems to be convenient and is followed in the next two sections.

INDEX BY ROMANISATION

The Wade/Giles system is employed and with slight modification to simplify type-setting. Each entry is presented in the order: romanised vessel-name, the vessel-name in characters, the inscription identification number, the rubbing number, and the page number. Text inscriptions are separated from clan-sign type inscriptions as already noted because of the different methods of codification employed.

INDEX BY INSCRIPTION IDENTIFICATION NUMBERS

The arrangement of the inscription identification numbers is from those with the lowest number of characters to those with the highest number, while the clan-sign types are treated as a separate group, and the identification numbers thereof are arranged in alphabetic order. The system is described in detail in the Introductory Volume (pp. 11-12, 49-51). It will be observed in the list presented here that some series of numbers are incomplete, e.g. ins. T. 149.1 (v.a); T. 149.1 (v.d); ins. T. 149.1 (v.f), (l.f); etc. This is because vessels (or vessel-lid sets); (v.b), (v.c), (v.e), etc. which also contain the inscription text, are not incorporated in the present survey. It should further be appreciated that the identification number system as a whole is not yet fully finalised – some items, for example, may later be more specifically identified by the addition of such details as: (v.a), (v.b), etc., while in the case of the clan-sign inscriptions it is expected that some rather more fundamental changes will be found necessary. However, such alterations will be kept to a minimum but additions of (v.a), (v.b), etc. throughout the identification numbers will be unavoidable when new versions of an earlier inscription appear.

CROSS REFERENCE INDEXES TO INSCRIBED VESSELS IN CH'EN MENG-CHIA'S CHI-LU

The abbreviated form adopted for Ch'en's survey is taken from the original title (see Introductory Volume, pp. 16-17) rather than that created for the Japanese edition which, unfortunately, did not take into account the need to abbreviate without the danger of duplicating existing abbreviated book titles. In the following pages the cross references are presented in two groups and in terms of the of the rubbing numbers used in the two surveys. As a result the vessel photographs in Ch'en's book can be studied along with our rubbings but the reader must consult Ch'en's list for converting his R numbers to his A numbers (see pp. 184-187 in Ch'en's book). In the projected Commentary Volumes it is our expectation that "working photographs" of each vessel will appear with each inscription commentary, thus meantime Ch'en's book will be found useful as a source of illustration for many of the vessels with inscriptions common to both publications.

In the present survey practically all the larger and more interesting of the inscribed items in Chi-lu have been incorporated. However, there are quite a few clan-sign types and a number of short text inscriptions which have not yet been recorded in our files. As a result of Dr Cheung's recent field-trip it is expected that an appreciable proportion of these inscriptions will be assembled and will find their way into the projected Hsü-pien. Those which have still eluded us will be simply reproduced so as to make the coverage of the present survey complete in terms of the inscription content of Ch'en's book.

Inscription rubbings in the present survey which appear in Ch'en Meng-chia's Chi-lu. Cross-references of the R (rubbing) numbers to the vessel identification numbers (hence to the Plates) in Chi-lu appear on pp. 184-187 in the Japanese edition of that work.

Inscription rubbings in Chi-lu which are duplicated (or absent) in the present survey. The majority of those listed as nil hereunder comprise short clan-sign inscriptions; most of these, where appropriate, will be incorporated in the hsü-pien volumes thus making this survey complete in terms of the inscription coverage in Chi-lu. The letters (h) and (p) alongside the Chi-lu numbers indicate that a hand-copy, or photograph, only appears, otherwise the rubbing is reproduced (many of the rubbings in Ch'en's book are reproduced with varying reduction sizes—a disadvantage that will be remedied in our hsü-pien volumes).

CLAN-SIGN INSCRIPTION ELEMENTS—A CROSS REFERENCE INDEX

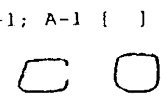

The identification letter/reference number system devised here (see Introductory Volume, pp. 45-51 and list of elements following) allows for convenient representation of each element incorporated in a clan-sign inscription. Varying combinations occur and if studied on an extensive scale significant conclusions may result. In the following pages the clan-sign inscriptions in the present survey are cross-indexed mainly to illustrate the potential of the system once the general corpus of clan-sign inscriptions is codified into a final form. At the moment there are several series of inscriptions such as B-1 (items 1105-1108) which require some more specific means of individual differentiation. This is a problem that must await the assembly all versions of B-1 before a suitable means can be determined. The eventual identification number should still be basically B-1 but it will probably have appended an additional code letter/number. In the cross reference system, it will be noted that complex combinations such as Inscription Nos. 1026-1028 which are shortened to: ins. A-[B-14, B-5+4] are entered under the elements C-7, L-10, L-2, and C-3 as well as under A-[ ], B-14, and B-5. An extensive application of this system along such lines is planned for the ultimate work: Archaeological Documents of Ancient China. The entries under each element have not been assorted into alphabetic/numerical order here, the ultimate list of codified clan-signs would be so arranged.

INDEX TO THE INSCRIPTIONS BY COLLECTIONS AND VESSEL-TYPES

Primarily the following arrangement is by Collections thus the division into vessel-types is not as conveniently organised as it might be. Under each Collection the number of items recorded is stated and the numbers of each vessel-type are given. Readers interested in making a survey of inscribed Ting-cauldrons, for instance, would need consult the relevant data as recorded under each Collection.

Inscriptions not hitherto published and those rarely seen amongst the repertories listed in the Introductory Volume (see pp. 33-48) are indicated.

三代吉金文存補總目

三代吉金文存補自序

羅振玉三代吉金文存簡稱「三代」，民國二十六年(1937)，錄殷周青銅器之有銘文者四八三五器；于省吾商周金文錄遺簡稱「錄遺」，民國四十六年(1957)錄六一六器。「錄遺」者，所以錄三代吉金文存之遺，其所以易三代為商周者，蓋因羅氏侈言三代，實則書中無夏代之器銘也。余編此書，所以補三代吉金文存及商周金文錄遺也。不及「錄遺」者，避繁也。卷一錄自殷周青銅器分類圖錄，該書著錄美國藏器，兼收「三代」及「錄遺」，今亦仍而不改。

文史之學，雖於國計民生無直接之實用價值，然關係於民族精神與自信心者，至深且巨。今之文史學者輒言：欲使台北成為國際漢學研究中心，此固書生報國之一端也。惟文獻不足，宜

尼所以有難徵之歎，見聞寡陋，籍父焉能辭忘祖之譏。本書所錄，僅嘗鼎一臠，窺豹一斑而已。然其中皆吾先民心血之結晶，民族精神之所寄托。上者足與典謨訓誥湯盤孔鼎相埒，次者亦不失為古史古文字學之直接資料。此皆歐美日本學者所得而援用者，而吾人反不知之，寧非學者之憾事歟。今姑就所見歐美日本之書刊，於其引用殷周金文者，擇而錄之，先成二卷，並附釋文及著錄表。餘俟續刊，博雅君子，或有取焉。民國六十九年(1980)三月，周法高序於台北。

三代吉金文存補凡例

一、三代吉金文存補以收集羅振玉三代吉金文存(簡稱三代)及于省吾商周金文錄遺(簡稱錄遺)二書所未收之殷周金文為主，但因主要根據之書將「三代」及「錄遺」所收與未收者合為一版，間收漢器(R436—R441)，今亦不便加以剔除，但於各條下說明。

一、本書卷一根據陳夢家編，松丸道雄改編殷周青銅器分類圖錄(一九七七年，東京汲古書院，簡稱「圖錄」)所收陳氏於一九四五—一九四七在美所見美國所藏殷周青銅器銘文(原書編號R1—R526號，後a示蓋銘，b示器銘，c示其它部份的銘文，P示照片，h示摹本。a和c等是參考用的它器拓本。其中R486—R495為照片與銘文重出，「圖錄」之銅器照片編號A1—A845(其中無銘文者二百

餘器，係分類編排，而銘文拓本則另行編號。今根據銘文拓本次序加以說明，另於卷首按器類劃分，同類者則按字數排列。

一、每條下分字數、釋文、時代、著錄、收藏、出土五項。凡卷一中增補之處，以方括弧標出。「圖錄」記載有省誤者，逕行改正，不另加說明，以省繁冗。

一、凡「圖錄」引「三代」，注明卷頁及銘文在頁中次第，今改據拙編三代吉金文存著錄表(民國六十六年，1977，台北三民書局)之號碼。該表首據張光直等殷周青銅器與銘文的綜合研究(民國六十二年，1973，中央研究院歷史語言研究所專刊之六十二，簡稱綜研或CS)加注CS之號碼，次據本人所編三代吉金文存之器號(用圓括弧標出)及林目所編三代之卷數、頁數及器銘序(用阿拉伯數字)，復次加注金文詁林所訂彝銘號碼(用阿拉

伯數字外加〈〉號標出，復據三代目標出三代器名字數，例如「CS 3050002.(4)1.2.1(18) 乙戻鐘六字」，意為乙戻鐘見於綜研3050002號，在三代中次序為4，為三代卷一頁二第一器。著錄表計每頁器銘號數，凡一器而有蓋器二銘者，則合計為一號，圖錄則以一銘算作一號，蓋器分屬兩號，故所列號數偶有與著錄表差一、二號者，今皆依著錄表。

一、「三代」及「錄遺」所收，多經剔除疑偽，故為學者所重。若真偽雜糅，讀者將無從辨別。今於金文疑偽之器，本寧闕毋濫之旨，不以多為貴也。但因未見原器，間有失誤，讀者諒之！例如Freer 1967 Nos. 14, 29, 32, 35, 46, 51, 52, 78, 115. Consuchi Nos. 9, 14, 16, 19, 20, 21, 22, 24, 31, 32, 33均以原目疑偽而不錄。又「圖錄」於高本漢所著皮斯百中國青銅器目錄(簡稱皮斯百)所收殷周銅器，搜羅略備。「圖錄」收入「皮斯百」藏五十八器，其中有銘文者二十八器，惟二器銘未收：「皮斯百」No. 52, Pl. 72, Fig. 57 詭「圖錄」未收銘文，但於A796 皿類下云：「口沿上偽刻三十字，係仿公姞鬲(「三代」13. 39. 6)尊文(「三代」11. 35. 2)而作。」又「皮斯百」No. 29, Pl. 43, 44, Fig. 36 尊，銘云：「公乍寶彝，其孫子永用。」「圖錄」亦未收入，今亦不錄，蓋其慎也。

一、計算字數，余與陳氏或有一字之差，如R146「亞(形中)獏父丁」，算作四字，但R146d「亞獏父丁尊」及R146e「亞獏父丁鼎」見於A附，因陳氏未注字數，余將「亞(形中)獏」作一字計，故算作三字。

一、釋文下標注時代，有「殷」(約1300—1028 B.C.)「西周初期」(武王至穆王，1027—926 B.C.)「西周中晚期」(恭王至幽王925—771 B.C.)「春秋時期」(770—481 B.C.)「戰國時期」(480—222 B.C.)「西漢」(206 B.C.—A.D. 8)諸期，或稱「殷或周初」(日「精華」稱「殷周間」)或稱「西周時期」或稱「周」。大抵卷一據「圖錄」，卷二據各家目，間據綜研，未能一一精確，但求得其大體，非憑臆造也。

一、著錄卷一多所增補，用方括弧標出。引書簡稱，多見附錄二，但雜誌英文簡稱，照張光直「中國考古學」等書之慣例，今不贅。

一、收藏者及出土地可考者書之，不可考者從略。卷一據「圖錄」，卷二據諸家。

一、本書編纂，歷時半年有餘，因「三代」及「錄遺」共五千餘器，而諸家器名及歸類，頗有出入，故剔除與「三代」及「錄遺」重複者，頗費心力，作而復輟者數次，其中艱苦，不足為外人道也。蒙王安祈、徐秀美女士等協助，謹致謝忱。

北京图书馆藏
青铜器铭文拓本选编

北京图书馆金石组编

據一九八五年文物出版社影印本影印

前　　言

我国制造和使用青铜器有着悠久的历史。根据考古发掘的资料，可以追溯到龙山文化时期。而青铜容器和礼器的出现，目前仅见于二里头文化时期。青铜冶铸业的蓬勃兴起，则是在商代和西周。从汉代开始，就已经有出土商周铜器的文献记载和实物例证。公元前126年，汉武帝因为在山西境内得鼎而改元为元鼎（见《汉书·武帝纪》应劭注）。解放后在汉墓中也曾经发现过商代的青铜觚等器物。由于商周青铜器的不断出土，宋代开始对青铜器及其铭文加以著录和研究。其中《考古图》著录了二百二十四器，《博古图》收录八百三十九件，《历代钟鼎彝器款识法帖》收集了五百一十件，《集古录》和《金石录》收有一百三十二器。到了清代，青铜器出土日益增多，著录铜器及其铭文之风盛极一时，当时著录铜器图象和铭文的书籍达九十种之多，所著录器物上千件。据不完全统计，我国历代传世的和解放三十多年来出土的有铭文的青铜器，见于著录者，约在一万件左右。这些铜器及其铭文，是研究我国古代历史的极其重要的实物资料。

北京图书馆自京师图书馆以来，经过九十年的工作，从公私藏家手中收集了数量十分可观的铭文拓本。其中仅商周至战国时期的青铜器及铭文拓本就达两千余纸（战国以后的尚不计算在内）。这些拓本原属公藏的有故宫博物院藏器拓本，宝蕴楼藏器拓本。原属私藏的有：潍县陈介祺（簠斋）拓本，庐江刘体智（善斋）拓本，浭阳端方（陶斋）拓本，北平孙壮（雪园）拓本，闽侯陈宝琛（澂秋馆）拓本，上虞罗振玉（雪堂）拓本，以及黄濬（伯川）、王辰（铁庵）、吴式芬（子苾）、陈淮生、张效和、张玮等人所藏拓本。其中数量较多的是簠斋、善斋、陶斋、雪园、雪堂、澂秋馆和故宫博物院的收藏。

在这些拓本中，有不少是海内罕与其匹的精拓、佳拓。例如十钟山房所传拓的楚公豪钟、纪侯钟、者氵钟、叡钟等几件钟；陈介祺所藏，并有罗振玉题跋的毛公鼎拓本；从古堂徐同柏孝钎，尤晋卿传拓的晋公盦等，都是著名的国宝重器和难得的精良佳拓。其中晋公盦由于拓本比较清晰，比《三代》所录为佳，据此拓本可以纠正旧有释文的若干错误。丰王铜泡铭文中的"丰王"，曾见之于文献记载。此器《三代》等书虽然曾经著录，但远不如本馆藏拓清晰。从本馆藏拓可以清楚地看出"丰王"二字，一行正书，一行倒书，过去却误释为一字。又据传世的另一件丰王铜泡，"丰王"二字是上下分开书写的。所以，此器铭文释为"丰王"二字当是可信的。

在这批拓本中，有九十二件是未见著录的新拓本或者是仅见摹本、未见原拓的真拓本。例如良季鼎铭文，过去就没有著录过。在武丁时期的卜辞中，曾记有良子向商王纳贡之事。良还与商王室通婚（卜辞称妇娘）。良应即是郎，该国族在其后数百年间湮没无闻。由此铭文及器形可知，郎国族至西周中期还是存在的。传世品中曾著录过一件"戊"字斝，在馆藏拓本中，我们又发现了一件与上述的器形、纹饰及铭文完全相同的斝。很显然，这是同人同时所铸的一对斝。其时代，应当属于武丁晚期到祖庚祖甲时期。这一对斝，由于器形高大，制作精美，完全可以和妇好墓所出的斝相媲美。它很可能是当时的王室重器。戊斝的"戊"很可能是武丁的配偶"母戊"的省称。宗妇簋传世著录了六件，在本馆所藏拓本中，又发现了二件。据此可知，宗妇簋制作时至少在八件以上。𤔲鼎是太保诸器之一，其铭文过去也未见著录。在本馆藏拓中，发现了它的铭文拓本。

总之，这九十二件未见著录的或只见摹本的拓本，可以概括为四种情况。

一、器形和铭文都未见著录者有十二件：亚鼎、良季鼎、戊斝、史觚、亚醜爵、作父乙彝爵、作障彝器座、𠃬戈、何斧、羞斧、象刀、七年宅阳矛等。

二、仅铭文未见著录者有二十六件：天鼎、未父乙鼎、𤔲鼎、仲义父鼎(一)(二)、雩己鼎、华季益鼎、子麦毁、𠭯父癸毁、宗妇簋(一)(二)、𠆢尊、箙贝尊、祖癸尊、作宝彝尊、祖辛父丁尊、戈罍、朋父丁壶、𦣻觚、子𧴪觚、父丁史觚、天爵、册史戈、廿三年戈、吴斧(一)(二)等。

三、仅器形未见著录者有二十五件：齐侯钟、𠬝鼎、鱼父乙鼎、大师人𩁹鼎、鸟父癸鼎、羸灵德小鼎、光鼎、奄作妇姑甗、父丁鬲、𡨦人宁鬲、毛𣶃毁、𠭯父乙方彝、何父乙卣、辛亚𠦪丁斝、丁觚、鼓𦎫作祖辛觯、戈爵、𠬝爵、鱼爵、亚𥁕爵、戈父乙爵、𡈼父丁爵、大亚父乙爵、𢽽戊𩇯爵(二)、𩁹祖癸角等。

四、过去虽已著录，但主要是摹本，此为原器传拓本者，有二十九件：𤔲妇方鼎、戒鬲、宁犬毁、文君子𡧊壶、𠂇乙卣、遣卣、𤔲嗣土幽卣、父戊觯、𠂇父甲觯、𠆢父丙觯、𠦪父辛觯、戠父乙觯、𡚬父戊觯、子癸𥁕觯、𦍒爵、𠌶爵(一)(二)、示𦍒爵、𠆢天爵、𠂇父丁爵、𠙵父乙爵、戈父己爵、父辛𣡗爵、𠆢辛父爵、束册父丁爵、父乙中𠊱爵、父乙臣辰𡧊爵、𤔲盘、取虘𠦪商盘等。

本馆所藏青铜器拓本的另一个特点是保存了大量的全形拓。这些拓本的发表，可以弥补过去未见器形或者只见器物线图和摹本的缺憾。对于青铜器形制和纹饰的研究，具有重要参考价值。例如，齐侯钟，过去仅方氏《缀遗》一书著录，但那是摹本，而且没有器形。本馆所藏齐侯钟的铭文拓本和全形拓本，无疑是十分可贵的。还有不少器物，过去虽曾见于著录，但因是摹本，器形和纹饰往往失真，远远不及全形拓的真实可靠。本馆所藏这一类为数甚多的全形拓，可以在某种程度上弥补摹写本的不足，或者和摹本互相补正。

大家知道，器物形制和纹饰，是青铜器研究的重要环节。只有见到了戊斝的全形拓，才可能判定它是武丁晚期至庚甲時期的铜器。只有见到了亚鼎的全形拓，才可以确定它是先周时期周人所铸的铜器。值得提出的是，亚鼎是周人灭商以前颇具民族特色的器物。这种形制的鼎传世品极为罕见。解放后，在陕西各地，特别是周原一带，出土了不少这样的鼎。它们都是研究先周时期周人青铜铸造业的实物资料。亚鼎铭文的真伪尚需作进一步的探讨。如果其铭文可靠，那么，这就是目前所知的周人最早的一件有铭铜器。其年代约当于殷墟文化三四期，比天亡毁、何尊等要早得多。即使铭文不大可靠，但其器形在当时历史条件下也是绝对伪作不了的；这至少可以说明，陕西地区在解放以前已经出土过先周铜器了。又如𨛫原钟，其铭文分铸在钟体两面的钲间和左右鼓部位。《三代》、《善斋》由于没有见到、或者见到而没有按照全形拓，把这六个部位的铭文顺序颠倒了，《小校》和《善图》虽然是按铭文先后顺序著录，但由于所著录的图像模糊不清，对这六段铭文究竟应当怎样通读，是不易判别的。现在，见到本馆所藏𨛫原钟的全形拓，铭文位置一目了然，这个问题就迎刃而解了。此外，象吴王夫差鉴那样的庞然大物，象羸灵德小鼎那样的玲珑小器，如果没有见到器形，是很难得到深刻印象的。如果不明器形，对这些器物的用途也就不可能有正确的认识。

总之，数量众多，拓本精良，较多的全形拓和一定数量未见著录的铭文，是本馆所藏青铜器拓本的四个主要的特点和优点。

为了把这批珍贵的拓本公布于世，以供各方面的研究，我们从一二六二张拓本中挑选出二七〇件，按照器类和铭文字数多少，编排成册。我们的选录原则是：一、选用钤有名家收藏印鉴以及题

跋的精拓。二、尽量收录铭文和器形皆全的拓本。三、收录未见著录的新拓。对于铭文和器形只见过摹本而未见原拓的，有些器虽然见于著录，但不如本馆藏拓清晰的，也尽量收录。四、对于重复的选用其中较好的拓本。例如毛公鼎拓本，本馆藏有四张，我们只选用了一张。五、对于馆藏的影印本，尽管其中不少曾为名家收藏，有些价值也很高，但因非原拓，一律不收录。

我们在图录后面，对每一器物的时代、铭文字数、拓本来源、著录和收藏情况等，作了简要的说明。铜器铭文一律用通行字作了释文。器形拓本和铭文拓本的尺寸，在图版下面注明，以资参考。

本书在编选过程中，承中国社会科学院考古研究所《殷周金文集成》编集组的大力协助。该组的张亚初、刘雨和本馆的徐自强参加了拓本的整理和本书的编选工作。在此特向考古研究所的同志们表示感谢。

由于我们的水平有限，在编选和说明中，肯定会有不当和错误之处，请专家、读者批评指正。

图版说明

一 钟

1．贮铙

商器．1字．王辰（铁庵）藏拓．本馆藏拓号：9.2．《三代》18.7.7；《十二·贮》3—4著录．贮为族氏名，所作器还有鼎、盉等．

2．𠂤铙

商器．2字．铭文在舞部．王辰（铁庵）藏拓．本馆藏拓号：9.1．《三代》18.9.1；《通考》487.6图版930；《十二·贮》1—2著录．铙或称执钟，是钟的前身．据目前所知，执钟最早见于商代晚期的殷墟五号墓．钟则到西周昭王、穆王时期才出现．此铙系商代晚期器．同铭之器有戈等．

3．亚虹铙

商器．3字．亚虹二字在口内，虹作𧈢，在亚中；左字在铙的甬把（甬）上．本馆藏拓号为16.26．《三代》18.8.2；《通考》486.1图版925；《尊古》1.11等著录．虹为族氏名．亚为其职官名．左可能是指此铙使用时的位置．虹族所作器还有鼎、尊、卣、觚、觯等．

4．己侯虓钟

西周器．6字．本馆藏拓号为16.12—16.13．《三代》1.2.1；《通考》498.9图版951；《小校》1.4.2；《十钟》4；《日华》4.350；《海外》图128.释19；《缀遗》1.32；《山东·纪》1等著录．据《积古》3.1云：器出山东寿光县纪侯台下．所以，己即是献上的纪国．虓字疑以为是虢之省，此为纪侯名．此器《大系》"疑作穆时器"，从舞部饰环带纹、重环纹看，应为西周晚期器．

5．𦅫侯钟

春秋器．7字．本馆藏拓号：1022（1384重）．善斋藏拓．《三代》1.3.1；《善斋·乐》4；《善图》17；《双王》4；《小校》1.5.2；《故宫》下下462，《贞松》1.1等著录．其形为镈钟．𦅫字待考．因此器形制纹饰与蔡侯墓所出编镈相近，故𦅫可能是江淮一带的一个小方国．

6．楚公冡钟㈠

西周器．14字（重文2）．本馆藏拓号：16.8．陈簠斋藏拓．《三代》1.5.2；《簠斋》1钟7；《十钟》6；《奇觚》9.5—6；《缀遗》1.4；《小校》1.17.2；《通考》496.3、945；《海外》图130释20等著录．此全形拓特精，优于各书．其上有"簠斋"、"十钟山房藏钟"、"海滨病史"、"秦铁权斋"等印鉴．从铭文及纹饰看，当是西周共懿时期之器．是目前所知最早的一件有铭文的甬钟．右鼓部表示变音部位的象纹十分形象生动．篆间饰双头顾龙纹．

7．楚公冡钟㈡

西周器．14字．本馆藏拓号：16.9（841重）．陈簠斋藏拓．《三代》1.6.1；《十钟》5；《小校》1.14；《奇觚》9.3—4；《缀遗》1.3；《海外》图129、释20等著录．此全形拓优于上述诸书．其上有"簠斋"、"十钟山房藏钟"、"秦铁权斋"等印鉴．与上器为同人所作．此器在旋的左右干部各有一个乳钉，与旋构成一个简化饕餮面，与上器相同．但篆间的云纹及表示变音部位的鸟纹与楚公冡钟㈠相异，字数也不同，可能不属于同一套编钟，而分属于同时或先后所铸的两套编钟．传世共五器，此其二．作器者为楚公冡．据《史记·楚世家》载，楚国称王是从周夷王时熊渠开始的．所以，楚公冡当是西周恭王至夷王时期的楚国的诸侯名．楚公冡钟当可定为西周中期器．

8．者沪钟

春秋器．24字．本馆藏拓号：16.17．《三代》1.41.1—2；《十钟》8；《小校》1.47.2—48.1；《大系》图249录163；《海外》图138释23；《缀遗》2.30等著录．此拓有"海滨病史"、"十钟山房藏钟"等印鉴，亦系精拓．

9．齐侯钟

春秋器．24字．本馆藏拓号：16.2．竹松堂吴氏藏拓．《缀遗》2.26著录．方濬益云："右齐侯钟铭两栾及钲间共二十四字，刻款，器见苏州，据濬益手拓本摹入"．此器仅见方氏著录摹本．本馆所藏全形拓不但提供了铭文拓本，而且可以看到器形的概貌．此器为镈形，但却自铭为钟，可见钟为共名，当可包括镈在内．拓本"多"字不清晰．

10．𠭯钟㈠

西周器．25字．本馆藏拓号：16.16．《三代》1.18.1；《十钟》10；《小校》1.23.2；《缀遗》1.25；《据古》2.3.33；《窸斋》2.11—12；《海外》图136释22著录．本拓有"十钟山房藏钟"、"半生林下田间"、"秦铁权斋"等印．全形拓较各书为优．

11．虢叔旅钟

西周器．26字．本馆藏拓号：16.15．《三代》1.61.2；《十钟》9；《小校》1.88；《海外》图134释22；《大系》图215录123；《通考》496.5图947；《缀遗》1.22；《窸斋》1.16等著录．此拓有"海滨病史"、"十钟山房藏钟"等印，为精良佳拓．器出陕西长安．此编钟传世凡七件，全文者四，不全者三．全文91字，此乃全文之第二段．

12．兮仲钟

西周器．27字．本馆藏拓号：16.18．《三代》1.13.1；《十钟》3；《小校》1.25；《据古》2.3.43；《缀遗》1.26—27；《窸斋》1.5；《海外》图133；《通考》497.7图949等著录．有"十钟山房藏钟"、"半生林下田间"等印，亦系精拓．此器在明代嘉靖年间出于江苏江宁（南京），传出凡七器．

13．者減钟

春秋器．存20字．本馆藏拓号：1015．善斋藏拓．《三代》1.46.2—1.47.1；《善图》14甲乙；《小校》1.31；《故宫》下下464—466；《贞松》1.12；《善斋·乐》17；《大系》图221录又152；《通考》499.15图957等著录．此器1761年在江西临江出土，共出11件．其铭八十余字者六，铭二十八字者四，无铭者一，此其一．

14．𠭯钟㈡

西周器．35字．本馆藏拓号：16.11．《三代》1.17.1；《十钟》2；《小校》1.28.1；《海外》图135释22；《缀遗》1.24—25；《通考》498.11图953；《双选》上1.3；《山东·纪》4；《断代》六120等著录考释．上有"十钟山房藏钟"、"秦铁权斋"等印鉴，拓本极佳．作器者𠭯即器10之𠭯，二者都是𠭯及蔡姬所作器．𠭯钟传世凡三器，二为编钟，文不完．𠭯钟㈡在篆间钲边透缀突起的小乳丁，是西周钟演变过程中的中间形态．变音部位饰以圆涡纹．𠭯的职务是大师，见大师𠭯簋、大师𠭯豆等器．其年代约当懿孝之际．

15．井人妄钟

西周器．41字（重2）．本馆藏拓号：16.14．《三代》1.24.2 25.1；《十钟》1；《小校》1.35及39.2；《海外》图132释21；《大系》图216录140—141释150；《缀遗》1.14—15；《通考》497.8图950；《双选》上1.3；《历朔》4.42等著录．此拓有"簠斋藏三代器"、"十钟山房藏钟"、"海滨病史"等印鉴，是精拓本．此编钟全篇铭文应有89字，分铸于两器．传世共三器，两为前铭，一为后铭．此为其前铭之一．

16．子璋钟

春秋器．42字（重2）．本馆藏拓号：1017．《三代》1.29.2—1.30.1；《善图》15；《故宫》下下467至468；《小校》1.42；《贞松》1.15；《善斋·乐》19—20；《大系》图281录194—195；《通考》501.4图963等著录，拓本上有"秀仁手拓"之印．据《上海》云：子璋钟传世凡七件．容庚《商周彝器通考》云：传世凡六件，四件全文，又二器铭相衔接．三代所收亦六件，其中五件为全文，一件铭与他器相衔接．此其全铭者之一．子璋即《左传》昭公三十年（公元前532年）所载的徐国亡国之君子璋．故此器是春秋晚期的标准器．

17．𨞾原钟

春秋器．60字．本馆藏拓号：16.20．善斋藏拓．《三代》1.37.2 1.39.1；《善图》16；《故宫》下下470—472；《小校》1.51；《善斋·乐》21等书著录．此器铭文分别铸在钟两面的钲间和左右鼓等六个部位．《三代》由于未见全形拓，将正反面钲间的铭文放置颠倒．《善斋》乐21也将这六部分铭文放错．《小校》和《善图》把六部分铭文按内容先后顺序放置，但由于过去所录图象模糊不清，又从未见到全形拓．未知谁是．本馆所藏全形拓本，可证《小校》和《善图》是正确的．钟出江西"瑞州东郊外锦江中"，铭文字体也具有南国之风．

18．郘黛钟

春秋器．86字．本馆藏拓号：1024．《三代》1.54.3；《善图》13；《故宫》下下463；《小校》1.72；《善斋·乐》1.36；《窸斋》1.10；《恒轩》上2；《大系》录274；《通考》498.13图955等书著录．此器1870年出土于山西荣河县后土祠旁．作器者吕黛自称毕公之孙，可证他是姬姓之吕，即瑕吕饴甥之吕，与传世姜姓的吕王器之吕并非一地．器出山西荣河县可作旁证．毕字或释翼，非是．据《上海》云：郘黛钟见于著录者共十五器，铭文皆同．

19．㝬钟

西周器．113字（重9）．本馆藏拓号：571—572．《三代》1.65.1—1.66.1；《故宫》下上238；《小校》1.94—95；《西清》36.4—5；《大系》图209录25释51；《通考》497.6图948；《通论》74图290；《双选》上1.1；《积微》136；《历朔》2.14—16等著录．此钟又名宗周钟，郭沫若曾考定其为昭王时器．柯昌济首先提出㝬即周厉王胡．后来唐兰力主此说．所以，学者或称之为厉王㝬钟．近年陕西扶风出土㝬簋胡为厉王说遂成定论．

二 鼎

20．亚鼎

商器．1字．本馆藏拓号：1062．善斋藏拓．《三代》2.7.10；《善图》21；《善斋·礼》1.4；《西清》4.16等著录．《西清》之图是一柱足鼎，《善图》所录是一扁足鼎，可能《西清》之图有误．此器是浅腹圆底的扁足鼎，旧称文王鼎．器铭仅一亚字．它对探讨铭文中常见的亚字的性质、作用是很重要的一条材料．腹饰由两条夔纹组成饕餮纹，但夔纹均倒置．比较少见．

21．𠬝鼎

商器．1字．本馆藏拓号：21.28．《三代》2.3.9；《贞续》上7；《靜华》乙1等著录铭文．器形未见著录．此全形拓极佳．此器时代较早．

27．亚凡鼎

周器．2字．本馆藏拓号：806．未见著录．铭文字体欠佳，真伪待酌．此器的器形是周人灭商以前特有的形制．传世者罕见．解放后在陕西各地，特别是周原一带出土了不少这样的鼎．它们都是研究先周青铜文化的重要材料．此拓有"庄严"、"北平庄氏藏记"、"秋梦盦"等印．

西周器．3字．本馆藏拓号：1311．拓本上有“王秀仁手拓金石文字”印．《善斋·礼》1、18；《小校》2、14、2等著录．据此拓可知，《善斋·礼》所录耳部形制及花纹摹写失真．

34．未父乙鼎

西周器．3字．本馆藏拓号：722．未见著录．器现藏故宫博物院．

35．鱼父乙鼎
